Contents

Notes on contributors vi
Preface xi

Part I: Theoretical Perspectives on Occupation Analysis

1. What is occupation analysis? 3
   Gjyn O’Toole

2. Models to inform occupation analysis 25
   Gjyn O’Toole

3. The relationship of the International Classification of Functioning, Disability and Health (ICF) to occupation analysis 35
   Lynette Mackenzie and Gjyn O’Toole

Part II: Analysing Relevant Components of Occupation that Underpin Practice

4. Occupation analysis and spirituality 53
   Lesley Wilson

5. Cultural dimensions of occupation analysis 66
   Ruth O. Beltran

6. Occupation analysis and the home and community environment 81
   Lynette Mackenzie

7. Analysing the occupation components of self-care 99
   Gjyn O’Toole

8. Occupation analysis and leisure occupations 115
   Lynette Mackenzie

Part III: Application of Occupation Analysis to Specific Practice Contexts

9. Children: Analysing the occupation of play 133
   Anita C. Bundy
Contents

10 Occupation analysis: Cognition and acquired brain impairment 147
Christine Chapparo and Judy Ranka

11 Dementia and occupation analysis 163
Gjyn O’Toole, Samantha Ashby and Michelle Fussell

12 Occupation analysis and falls prevention 177
Lynette Mackenzie

13 Indigenous peoples and occupation analysis 195
Gjyn O’Toole

14 Medico-legal assessments 205
Claudia Walker

15 Creating occupational engagement to maximise recovery in mental health 217
Elizabeth Anne McKay and Katie Robinson

16 Occupation analysis and occupational rehabilitation 232
Carole James

17 Public health and health promotion 246
Clare Hocking

18 Motor aspects of upper limb functioning and occupation analysis 264
Judy L. Ranka and Christine Chapparo

19 Occupation analysis and successful ageing 280
Ann McIntyre

Part IV: The Interface Between Aspects of Practice and Occupation Analysis

20 The importance of professional thinking and reasoning in occupation analysis 299
Susan Ryan

21 Setting and evaluating person-centred goals: An outcome of occupation analysis 312
Steve Park

Appendix: Analysing occupations: Helpful resources 329
Gjyn O’Toole and Lynette Mackenzie

Glossary 378

Index 387