CONTENTS

Acknowledgments xiii

1 It’s About You—You Are Responsible Too 1

PART 1 OUR BELIEF IN THE FREE MARKET FAILED US 9

2 Too Much Choice, Too Little Restraint 11
   Fetch the Tool Box 11
   Economics Is Not Rocket Science: It Is Not Even Science 16
   How Has Economics Failed Us? Let Me Count the Ways 17
   A DVD Player Should Cost More than Lunch 19
   For Richer and Poorer 20

3 A Broken Financial System 23
   Consumption, Not Love, Was the Drug 23
   How Far Is Down? 26
   Consumer Debt 27
   Bank Debt 32
   Government Debt 39

4 Squandering Our World 47
   Who Owns the World’s Resources? 47
   You Don’t Like These Principles? I Have Others 50
   We’ll Know What It’s Worth When It’s Gone 51
   Our Rare Earth 52
   Seven Billion into Water Won’t Go 54
   Laissez-Faire, No Thanks 55

5 The Damaging Power of Me 61
   Me, Myself, I 61
   The Retreat of Conservatism 63
   Kiasu. Bless You 64
   Greed Is Not Good, Gordon 65

IX
PART 2  Running Blind—We Are Poorly Equipped to Deal with These Challenges  69

6  Can You Read Kant?  71
   Don’t Start from Here  71
   Well, Duh!  74
   Going My Way?  78

7  Who Is in Charge?  81
   Someone Needs to Make Decisions  81
   Nothing Is Terrible Except Fear Itself  83
   Man Is Born Free but Everywhere Is in Chains  84
   Who Is in Charge?  89

8  China’s Rising Influence Will Not Help  93
   It Can Get Worse  93
   The Dragon Is Awake  94
   Of Privileges and Principles  96
   There Is Anger Too  100
   Be Careful What You Wish For  104
   Playing for Power  106

PART 3  The Implications of These Failures Will Be Hard  117

9  We Will Become Financially Poorer  119
   But Answers Are Easy, Aren’t They?  120
   The Long Tail  121
   All Comes Tumbling Down  123
   Goodbye Stimulus Packages, Hello Savage State Cutbacks  125
   More Air Will Not Work  128
   You Need Another Hole in That Belt  129

10  Our Way of Life Will Change  133
    In the Energy Battles, No One Will Play Nicely  134
    When You Are in a Hole, Keep Digging  138
    Shine Some Light on the Problem  146

11  We Will Become Less Healthy  151
    How Much Oil Is in That Salad?  154
    I’ll Give the Scalpel a Wipe Then  158
    Was That a Cough?  159
    The Buzz Has Gone  162
CONTENTS

12 We Need to Diffuse the Threats of Conflict 169
   We Do Things Differently, Don’t You See? 171
   The Cupboard Will Soon Be Bare 174
   But You Promised! 180
   Climate Change Will Bring Threats of Conflict Too 182

PART 4 Light in an Age of “Endarkenment” 185

13 We Need to Change 187
   You Just Need a New Washer, Mate 188

14 Other Options Need Debate 203
   From Progress to Poverty 203
   Give the Flowers the Power 204
   That Pip Squeak? 207

15 You. You Have a Role Now Too 219

Index 223