Index

Pages followed by fig indicate an illustrated figure; followed by t indicate a table

A
Abu Ghraib prison scandal (Iraq), 44, 52
Adaptive challenges, 12
Addams, Jane, 112
Agency: Eduardo’s rebellion (Exercise 3) driven by his, 197; example Separation Exercise responses indicating degrees of, 162; frequency of responses to question across all three exercises on, 163 t–164; as key difference between human beings and computer simulation, 256–257; Separation Exercise analysis of individual, 161–164; whole system level of analysis connecting outer world and inner, 197–199
Alexander, Michelle, 219–221
American civic life: call for voluntary national service as part of, 285–294; social change as central to, 3. See also Democracy
American Revolution, 1, 2, 99, 100
America’s Promise, 289
AmeriCorps, 288, 291, 293, 294
Anderson, L. M., 293
Anti-Catholicism, 112
Anti-Semitism, 112
Arab Spring (2010), 59
Asch, Solomon, 9, 41–43, 42, 46
Asch’s conformity experiments (1950s): description and outcomes of the, 42–43; exploring the interpersonal level of human behavior, 43; operating at the individual behavior level, 41–43, 70; origins and objective of the, 41; similarity between Milgram’s experimental design and, 42
Asians: Camp Anytown’s Separation Exercise dividing out, 5–6, 25–28; distinctive stories of each individual, 23; process of awakening for, 215–219; special attention in Exercise 2 on, 134, 172; three Separation Exercise interpersonal level of analysis of labeled, 10, 144–164; three Separation Exercise narratives on groups labeled, 115–141. See also People of color
Atoms, 62–63
Authority: differentiating between leadership and, 12–13; hierarchical, 87–91; Milgram’s 1950s study on obedience to, 37–41, 42, 43, 70, 208; moving from hierarchical to complex networked systems, 92–95; social contract between ruled and the rulers, 91–92; story of Yitro and Moses challenging status quo of, 89–91, 96. See also Hierarchies; Leadership

Autobiography of Malcolm X (Malcolm X), 216–218

Awakening process: Eduardo’s rebellion during Exercise 3 example of, 135–140, 172–173, 192, 197, 201; Exercise 3 White males’ complex unawareness versus the, 209, 213–214; individual call to action for journey of personal, 271–286; to inner wholeness, 203–206; to internalized hierarchy, 223–229; to internalized privilege, 222–223; Michelle Alexander on her ongoing journey, 219–221; for people of color, 215–219; to systemic nature of privilege examples, 258–262; understanding that social change can only happen with, 229; for White people, 211–215. See also Higher consciousness; Truth

Black females (Separation Exercise): Camp Anytown’s Separation Exercise dividing out, 5–6, 25–28; Exercise 1—reports of individuals experience labeled, 149; Exercise 1—Thomasina and Drake’s System experience of labeled, 115–122, 147–151, 163; interpersonal level of analysis of, 10, 144–164

Black Lives Matter: police revenge killings by Micah Javier Johnson during peaceful protest by, 35; privileged Americans who are blind to issues of, 245; as response to police shootings of unarmed Black men, 3, 34–35

Black males (Separation Exercise): Camp Anytown’s Separation Exercise dividing out, 5–6, 25–28; Exercise 1—reports of individuals experience labeled, 149; Exercise 1—Thomasina and Drake’s System experience of labeled, 115–122, 147–151, 163; interpersonal level of analysis of, 10, 144–164

Blacks: conk hairstyle to try to look more “White” by, 216–218; continued violence against, 3–4, 34–35, 245, 261; discrimination and oppression internalized with the self of, 216–218; distinctive stories of each individual, 23; on growing up Black experiences during OUCD trip, 18–19, 21; historical trauma of slavery of, 2, 220, 236; Jim Crow segregation of, 3, 5–6, 24; Martin Luther King Jr. on paradox of power and love approach used for civil rights by, 194–195; Michelle Alexander on criminal justice system and racism against, 219–221; process of awakening for, 215–219; Rosa Parks as public icon of women, 203; three Separation Exercise narratives on groups labeled, 115–141; Tuskegee syphilis experiment on, 3. See also Civil rights movement (1960s); People of color

Blind men and the elephant metaphor, 22–23

“Blind spot” of leadership, 198–199

Bloodlines (Volkan), 242

Blue eyes/brown eyes exercise (1968): description and outcomes of, 49–52; epiphanies and increased empathy outcomes of the, 175; intergroup level of analysis of, 52–55, 70–71, 164; origins and purpose of, 48. See also Elliot, Jane

Bond, R., 42

Bosnia-Herzegovina civil war, 242

Boy Scouts of the USA, 291

Boys and Girls Club, 291

Brafman, Ori, 93–94

Bridgeland, J., 288

A Brief History of Humankind (Harari), 87

Brinsley, Ismaaiyl, 261

“Broken windows” theory of crime reduction, 59n.1

Brooks, David, 296–297

Brown, Michael, 3, 33, 34, 261

Buddha (Siddhartha Gautama), 282, 295

Butterfly effect, 61–62

C

Call to action. See Dual call to action

Camp Anytown program: description of the, 5, 25; expertise of those running the, 29–30; higher consciousness and deeper understanding outcomes of the, 30; history and philosophy of NCCJ and, 29–30, 112–113; important insights on social change learned at, 6–9; Separation Exercise experience at the, 5–9, 10, 25–28, 30–31. See also National Conference for Community and Justice (NCCJ); Separation Exercise (Camp Anytown)

Campbell, Joseph: comparative mythologist work by, 270; The Hero with a Thousand Faces by, 277–278, 281; insights into the hero’s journey by, 276–284; on internal awareness and outer participation, 269

Canada: mistreatment of indigenous peoples by, 246; Truth and Reconciliation (2008) to acknowledge and change treatment of indigenous peoples, 247

Cardazone, G., 293

Carson, Johnny, 51

Carter, Jimmy, 242

Castile, Philando, 3, 35

Category I systems: description of, 73; none of the Separation Exercises as, 181

Category II systems: description of, 73; Thomasina and Drake’s System (Exercise 1) as a, 180

Category III systems: description of, 73–74; none of the Separation Exercises as, 181

Category IV systems: description of, 74; John and Susan’s System (Exercise 3) as, 181

Cell walls, 63

Cellular automata tool: emergence of stable patterns in simulations using, 68fig–69fig; insights into nature of complex systems using the, 70–72; model of panic simulated using the, 67fig

Chakra system (India), 273

Challenger explosion, 242

Chavez, Cesar, 101, 108

China: Great Leap Forward, 107–108; Olympic Games held in, 102

“Chosen traumas,” 242–243

City Year: description and focus of the, 32–33; education focus of, 292–293; volunteer national service opportunities through, 288
Civil rights movement (1960s): additional need to complete the, 33; the connection between power and love during the, 194–195; leading figures of, 19–20; Rosa Parks’ decision and courage during, 20, 203–204; Separation Exercise as petri dish of the, 6, 28; social change brought by, 3; three organizers killed (1968) during, 20. See also Blacks; Individual power; Social transformation

Civil War, 2, 220

A Class Divided (TV documentary), 51–52

CNCS (Corporation for National Community Service), 291

Coates, Ta-Nehisi, 214–215, 252–254

Cold War: dynamics of the, 52–53; nuclear disarmament issue during the, 57

Communist Manifesto (Marx and Engels), 100, 101

Communities in Schools, 291

Complex phenomenon of, 75–80, 102, 104–105; “Game of Life” simulation revealing four categories of, 72–75, 178–182; the hundredth monkey phenomenon of change in, 57–58; interdependence, 62–65; “critical mass” and tipping point concepts of change in, 58–59; nonlinearity property of the, 59–60; self-organization, 65–72; of social transformations, 95–103; worldviews challenged by operations of, 81–83. See also Systems

Complex systems: description of this new approach to science, 60; dynamics of social transformations, 95–103; the “game of life” simulation on, 72–75, 178–182; interdependence within a, 62–65; philosophical implications embedded into workings of, 82–83; self-organization characteristic of, 65–72

Complexity: distinguishing between complex and complicated concepts of, 81; the “game of life” and social systems, 72–75, 178–182; how it changes depending on the scale of observation, 80–81; understanding the meaning and importance of the term, 80

Complexity (Waldrop), 72

Conflict: John Gottman’s research on marital, 237–240; “time collapse” phenomenon of ethnic-based, 243–245; Volkan’s research on ethnic-based, 241–243

Conformity experiments. See Asch’s conformity experiments (1950s)

Cork hairstyle story, 216–218

Connie and Laurie’s System (Exercise 2): avoiding “military-style” power but offering empathy in, 194; connection between the inner and outer worlds of, 197–200; exploring different outcomes of each exercise including, 178–182; guilt and shame from those at top of hierarchy, 151; intergroup level of analysis of on Exercises 1, 3, and, 164–174; interpersonal level of analysis specific to, 151, 163r–164; narration of, 122–131; paradox of structure and freedom in rules of, 182–185; patterns evidenced in all three exercises, 176–182; qualitative attention distribution, 172, 173–174; quality of presence and level of engagement by staff members, 187–188, 190, 192; quantitative attention distribution, 166–167fig; responses to question about agency, 163r–164; special attention to the Asian group of, 134, 172; 22 rules in the, 182, 183r–185r; whole system level of analysis of all the exercises, 176–206
Corporation for National Community Service (CNCS), 291
Corrin, W., 293
Counselor guidelines (Separation Exercises 1, 2, 3), 183
Criminal justice system: high school degree relationship to incarceration by, 289; Michelle Alexander on her ongoing awakening journey within, 219–221; number of Black adults under control of, 220
“Critical mass” concept, 58–59

D
Dalai Lama, 202
Declaration of Independence, 2
“Declaration of Sentiments” ( Stanton), 100, 101
Democracy: co-existence of slavery with, 2, 220, 236; consciousness of matters central to the future of, 30; the Enlightenment’s influence on origins of, 1; the founding fathers’ commitment to equality and, 1; Palmer’s inner wholeness theme for healing, 203–204. See also American civic life; United States
DePaoli, J., 288
Descartes, René, 271, 272
Directors. See Staff members
Disconnection: awakening to inner wholeness to overcome, 203–206; Palmer’s theme of wholeness as curing, 204–205
Discrimination: blue eyes/brown eyes exercise for teaching students about, 48–52, 70–71, 164, 175; dreaming state of White Americans blind to, 209, 213–215; how the Separation Exercise provides insight into, 6–9, 13, 30–31; Jim Crow segregation and, 3, 5–6, 24; metaphor of White males blind to existing, 209–211; the “Rosa Parks decision” to reject, 20, 203–204. See also Oppression; Racism
Divergent (film), 279
DNA structure, 63
Doha trade talks, 102
“Double consciousness,” 222–223
Dream/dreaming: author’s guilt and shame after awakening from, 258–260; illusion of Exercise 3 White males on separation from “the others,” 209, 213–214; Ta-Nehisi on awakening a White female from her, 214–215
Du Bois, W.E.B., 222
Dual call to action: description of the, 269; personal awakening as the individual, 271–284; as personal transformation journey, 269–270; ubuntu notion applied to, 272–273, 275, 295; voluntary national service, 284–295

E
Economic equality: education benefits to, 286, 289; modern challenges threatening, 286–287
Economic inequality, 249, 286–287
Edmund Pettis Bridge (Selma, Alabama), 21
Eduardo (Exercise 3): awakening the system to higher level of conscious awareness, 201; how his inner qualities directed his actions, 197; how wholeness challenges us to reframing our understanding of his actions, 201; rebellion led by, 135–140, 172–173, 192, 275
Education: City Year focus on, 292–293; declining rates of graduation from high school, 288–289; high school as modern rite of passage, 285–286; increasing economic growth and equality benefits of, 286, 289
Electrons, 62
Elliot, Jane, 48–52. See also Blue eyes/brown eyes exercise (1968)
Emanuel African Methodist Episcopal Church shooting (2015), 3, 34–35
Empathy. See Power and love paradox
The End of Leadership (Kellerman), 96, 97–101
Engels, Friedrich, 100
The Enlightenment, 1, 99
Ethics for the New Millennium (Dalai Lama), 202
Ethiopian community (Israel), 20
Ethnic conflict: impact of intractable, 241–242; Middle East, 242; Serbian–Croatian, 241; “time collapse” phenomenon of, 243–245; Tutsis–Hutus violence (Rwanda), 52, 241, 246
Ethnic group conflicts, 241–242
Ethnicity: impact of intractable conflict based on different, 241–242; Separation Exercise findings on frustration over identified, 150.
See also Race
Exercise 1. See Thomasina and Drake’s System (Exercise 1)
Exercise 2. See Connie and Laurie’s System (Exercise 2)
Exercise 3. See John and Susan’s System (Exercise 3)
“Exercising Leadership, Mobilizing Group Resources” course, 223–227
Exodus story, 89–91
Experiments. See Human behavior experiments; Separation Exercise
Eye of the Storm (TV documentary), 51

The Feminine Mystique (Friedan), 97, 101
Feminist movement: receiving the right to vote (1920) during early, 101; social transformation of marriage and family role, 97–98; unique experiences of individual women during, 104. See also Women
The Fifth Discipline (Senge), 207–208, 249–252
Financial crisis (2008), 102
Flocking simulation, 66, 70
Formal activities assignments (Separation Exercises 1, 2, 3), 184t–185t
Four Little Girls (documentary), 20–21
Fox, J. N., 288
Fractal phenomenon: black triangle example of, 76–77; description of, 75, 102; examples in the natural world, 77–80; examples of infinite complexity emerging form elegant simplicity, 104–105
Freedom and structure paradox, 182–185
French Revolution, 98, 99
Friedan, Betty, 96, 100

G
“Game of Life” simulation: description of, 72; four system categories and their rules, 73–75, 180–181; Separation Exercise as form of, 178–180; Separation Exercise rules as analogous to code in the, 182
Gandhi, Mahatma, 108, 279, 295
Garner, Eric, 3, 34, 261
Gay marriage (2015), 101
Gender differences: Exercise 1—reports of individuals experience of Blacks by, 149t; Exercise 1—reports of individuals experience of Whites by, 148t, 150
Gilligan, Carol, 222
Girl Scouts of the USA, 291
Gladwell, Malcolm, 58–59
Global consciousness: Gladwell’s “critical mass” concept of changing, 58–60; the hundredth monkey phenomenon of change in, 57–58
Goodman, Andrew, 20
Gottman, John: “love lab” research by, 237–239; My Injuries and Healings self-reflection question by, 240; My Triumph and Strivings self-reflection question by, 239–240; The Seven Principles for Making Marriage Work by, 237–238, 246
Gray, Freddie, 3
Great Leap Forward (China), 107–108
Guilt: experienced by those at top of hierarchy during Exercise 2, 151–152; as response to awakening to racial privilege and oppression, 258–261
Gurley, Akai, 3

H
Hamilton, Dontre, 3
Hamilton, Tanisha, 3
Haney, C., 44, 45
Hanover Insurance, 198
Harari, Yuval Noah, 87
Harris, Eric, 3
Harvard Graduate School of Education: author’s experiences at, 22–32; powerful truths encountered during time at, 23–24; receiving IRB approval for Separation Exercises doctoral research at, 29–32; visit to Camp Anytown during doctoral studies at, 25–29
Harvard Institutional Review board (IRB), 29
Harvey, O. J., 46
Healing the Heart of Democracy (Palmer), 203–204
Heifetz, Ronald, 11, 265–266
The Hero with a Thousand Faces (Campbell), 277–278, 281
Hero’s journey: The Hero with a Thousand Faces (Campbell) on the, 277–278, 281; inner work required during the, 283–284; Joseph Campbell’s insights into the, 276–284; Separation Exercise as mythological wisdom and, 279–280, 282–283; three key stages of the, 278–279; “two kingdoms” of the, 281
A Hidden Wholeness (Palmer), 204–205
Hierarchies: awakening to internalized, 223–229; constrained by “the social contract” between rulers and ruled, 92fig; distributed authority, 88–89fig; early historic development of, 87–91; evidence of U.S. regression back to old system of, 108; moving toward modern complex networked systems versus, 92–95; Separation Exercise finding on guilt and shame evoked by, 151–152; a simple, 88fig; story of Yitro and Moses challenging status quo of, 89–91, 96. See also Authority; Leadership
Higgs Boson, 63
High school education: City Year focus on, 292–293; declining rates of graduation, 288–289; economic growth and equality benefits of, 286, 289; as modern rite of passage, 285–286
Higher consciousness: Camp Anytown program outcomes of deeper understanding and, 30; Eduardo’s rebellion awakening the system to awareness of, 135–140, 172–173, 192, 197, 201; hero’s journey to a, 276–284; important implications of emerging, 201–202; individual call to action for striving to access potential of one’s, 273–276; for understanding inner ways of being and outer change, 257–263; the “us” awareness of wholeness of, 201–202. See also Awakening process; Inner worlds
Historical glories: John Gottman’s research on relationship impact of trauma and, 237–241; power of chosen, 243; “time collapse” phenomenon observed conflict based on, 243–245; understanding system through experiences of trauma and, 236–247

Historical trauma: of Battle of Kosovo (1389), 242; “chosen traumas,” 242–243; of Jim Crow segregation, 3, 5–6, 24; John Gottman’s research on relationship impact of triumphs and, 237–241; Separation Exercise finding on memories evoked of, 151; of slavery, 2, 220, 236; Thich Nhat Hanh on dealing with suffering of, 266–267; “time collapse” phenomenon observed conflict based on, 243–245; understanding system through experiences of glories and, 236–247; “victim Olympics” on, 266

Hitler, Adolph, 107

Holocaust. See Nazi Holocaust

Hood, W. R., 46

Howard University, 252

Huerta, Delores, 101

Hughes, Charles Evans, 112

Human behavior experiments: Asch’s 1950s experiments on conformity, 41–43, 70; contributions to understanding human behavior by, 54; Elliot’s blue eyes/brown eyes exercise, 48–55, 70–71, 164, 175; Milgram’s 1950s study exploring obedience, 37–41, 42, 43, 70, 208; Robbers Cave Experiment, 46–48, 52, 70–71; Stanford Prison Experiment, 28, 43–46, 52, 70–71. See also Separation Exercise (Camp Anywhere); Simulations

The Hundredth Monkey (Keyes), 57–58

The hundredth monkey phenomenon, 57–58

The Hunger Games (film), 279

Hutus–Tutsis violence (Rwanda), 52, 241, 246

I

“I think, therefore I am” truth, 271

Indian chakra system, 273

Indigenous peoples: Canada’s Truth and Reconciliation (2008) to change treatment of, 247; U.S. and Canadian mistreatment of, 246

Individual call to action: Descartes’s worldview on, 271–272; striving to access potential of one’s higher self, 273–276; ubuntu concept and philosophy for, 272–273, 275, 295; undertaking hero’s journey, 276–284

Individual power: Eduardo’s rebellion during Exercise 3 driven by, 135–140, 172–173, 192, 197, 201, 275; Leo Tolstoy’s War and Peace examination of, 250–252; Peter Senge’s case on link between structure of system and, 249–252; potential to transform Separation Exercise system, 248; Rosa Parks’ decision as example of, 20, 203–204; understanding impact on system by individual responsibility and, 247–257. See also Civil rights movement (1960s)

Individuals: notion of freedom for, 53; Separation Exercise analysis on systemic change versus, 153–156. See also Interpersonal level of analysis

Ingram, E., 288

Initial instructions (Separation Exercises 1, 2, 3), 183t

Initial status (Separation Exercises 1, 2, 3), 183t

Inner worlds: awakening to inner wholeness connecting outer and, 203–206; bringing forth different kinds of worlds through our, 199–200; Eduardo’s Exercise 3 rebellion driving by his agency and, 135–140, 172–173, 192, 275; hero’s journey and the two kingdoms of outer and, 281; how the staff members "brought forth a world" through their, 199; Nelson Mandela’s example of inner being and, 262–263; outer change through inner ways of being, 257–263; the "Rosa Parks decision" as inner choice of, 203–204; Scharmer’s “blind spot” of leadership and, 198–199; whole-system perspective illuminating connection between outer and, 197–200. See also Higher consciousness; System categories

Interdependence: examples of systems with, 63–64; as key component of complex systems, 64–65; of physical world building blocks, 62–63

Intergroup level of analysis: as challenging the notion of individual freedom, 53; contributions to our understanding of human behavior, 54; of Elliot’s blue eyes/brown eyes exercise, 48–55, 70–71, 164; on power structures and social norms of communities, 54–55; relevance to real-world events by, 52–53; of Robbers Cave Experiment, 46–47, 52–55, 70–71; of Separation Exercise, 164–174; of Stanford Prison Experiment, 28, 43–46, 52, 70–71. See also Separation Exercise intergroup level of analysis

Internet: decentralization power of the, 94; open music-sharing made possible by the, 94

Interpersonal level of analysis: of Asch’s conformity experiments, 41–43; of Asch’s conformity experiments (1950s), 41–43, 70; of Milgram’s obedience experiment, 38–41; of Milgram’s obedience study (1950s), 37–41, 70; of Separation Exercise, 10, 144–164. See also Individuals; Separation Exercise interpersonal level of analysis

Iraq War (2003), 43–44

Irving, Debby, 214–213

Isolates. See Social isolates

Israelite exodus story, 89–91

Israel’s Ethiopian community, 20

J

James, William, 287

Jesus, 279, 295

Jewish groups (Separation Exercise): dividing out, 5–6, 25–28; Star of David armbands worn by Exercise 3, 264; three Separation Exercise narratives on, 115–141

Jewish Kabbalist mystics, 274

Jewish people: Exercise 1—reports of individuals experience by group labeled, 148; Nazi Holocaust and, 37–41, 42, 43, 70, 107, 208, 236, 264; Star of David armbands in Nazi Germany, 236, 264; Tree of Life model of Jewish Kabbalist mysticism, 274

Jim Crow segregation: civic rights movement emerging decades after the, 24; Separation Exercise (Camp Anytown program) replication of, 5–6; vicious discrimination during the, 3

John and Susan’s System (Exercise 3): as Category IV system, 181; complete unawareness exhibited by White males during, 209, 213–214; connection between the inner and outer worlds of, 197–200; experience of the LGBTQ kids during, 131–141, 152t–153, 209; exploring different outcomes of each exercise including, 178–182; intergroup level of analysis of on Exercises 1, 2, and, 164–174; interpersonal level of analysis specific to, 152t–153, 163t;
John and Susan’s System (Continued)
narration of the, 131–141; paradox of holding power and offering love in, 193, 194; paradox of structure and freedom outcome in, 182–184, 193; patterns evidenced in all three exercises, 176–182; qualitative attention distribution, 172–173; quality of presence and level of engagement staff members, 188–191, 192; quantitative attention distribution, 167fig; “the rebels” led by Eduardo, 135–140, 172–173, 192, 194, 201, 275; responses to question about agency, 163t; Star of David armbands worn by Jewish group during, 264; 13 rules in the, 182, 183t–185t; whole system level of analysis of all the exercises, 176–206
Johnson, Micah Javier, 35
Jones, Jim, 107
Jones, Prince, 252–253
Jonestown Massacre, 107
Jumpstart, 291

K
Kahane, Adam, 195–196
Kalish, Karen, 17, 19
Kazaa Lite, 94
Kazaa music-sharing, 94
Kazakhstan, 100
Kellerman, Barbara, 96, 97–101
Kennedy assassination trauma, 242
Kennedy School of Government, 241
Keyes, Ken, Jr., 3–4
Khazei, Alan, 33
King, Martin Luther, Jr.: “chosen trauma” of assassination of, 242; as civil rights movement hero, 20; complexity seen in the stories of, 108; on connection between power and love, 194–195; Elliot’s blue eyes/brown eyes exercise in response to assassination of, 48–55, 70–71, 164, 175; inspiration from life of, 295; “Letter from Birmingham Jail” by, 101; myths found in the stories of, 279; Thich Nhat
Hanh nominated for Nobel peace prize by, 267
Ku Klux Klan, 112

L
Laguarda, K. G., 293
Large Hadron Collider, 63
Latinos: Camp Anytown’s Separation
Exercise dividing out, 5–6, 25–28;
distinctive stories of each individual, 23; Exercise 1—reports of individuals experience by groups labeled, 149t, 150; historical traumas suffered by, 236; process of awakening for, 215–219; Separation Exercise interpersonal level of analysis of, 10, 144–164; United Farm Workers movement for justice and equality for, 101. See also People of color “Laws of history” (systemic structures), 251–252
Lazar, Prince, 242
Leadership: awakening to internalized hierarchy in, 223–229; differentiating between authority and, 12–13;
of Eduardo leading Exercise 3 rebellion, 135–140, 172–173, 192,
199, 201, 275; hierarchical, 88–91;
Kellerman’s arguments on the “end” of, 96, 97–101; moving toward modern complex networked system, 92–95; Scharmer on the “blind spot” of, 198–199; “social contract” between ruled and rulers, 92fig.
See also Authority; Hierarchies
Leadership and the New Science
(Wheatley), 61
Lee, Spike, 20
“Letter from Birmingham Jail”
(King), 101
Level of analysis: individual or interpersonal, 10, 37–43, 70, 144–164;
intergroup, 28, 43–55, 70–71, 164–174; whole system, 68fig, 69fig, 71–72, 175–206
Level of engagement: Connie and Laurie’s System (Exercise 2) staff members, 187–188, 190, 192; John and Susan’s System (Exercise 3) staff members, 188–191, 192; Thomasina and Drake’s System (Exercise 1) staff members, 186–187, 190
Lewin, Kurt, 103
LGBTQ people: distinctive stories of each individual, 23; Separation Exercise findings on Exercise 3 experience of, 131–141, 152–153, 209
Life development: as ongoing process over time, 11; understanding the complexity of, 12
Light-skinned Blacks, 19
Long Walk to Freedom (Mandela), 219
Lord of the Rings (film), 279
Lorenz, Edward, 61
Love/empathy. See Power and love paradox

M
Malcolm X, 13, 216–218
“Managing Intractable Conflict” course, 241–242
Mandelbrot, Benoit, 105
Mao Zedong, 107
Marriage: John Gottman’s “love lab” research on relationships and, 237–240, 246; social transformation of institution of, 97–98
Martin, Trevor, 34
Marx, Karl, 100
Maslach, C., 44, 45
The Matrix (film), 279
Maushard, M., 288
McLaughlin, J., 289
Meadows, Donella, 250
Middle East conflict, 242
Milgram, Stanley, 9, 28, 38, 46, 208
Milgram’s obedience study (1950s): description and outcomes of the, 39–41, 208; exploring the interpersonal level of human behavior, 43; operating at the individual behavior level, 41–43, 70; scene from the infamous, 37–38; similarity between Asch’s experimental design and, 42; subsequent research following the, 41
Military services, 287
Mitochondria, 63
Mohammed, 279
Molecules, 62
Monomyth myth, 278
The Moral Equivalent of War (James), 287
Murat I (Ottoman Turkish Sultan), 242
Music-sharing programs, 94
My Injuries and Healings self-reflection, 240
My Triumph and Strivings self-reflection, 239–240
Myths: deeper truths revealed by, 270; Joseph Campbell’s insights into the hero’s journey, 276–284; Luke Skywalker, 282; monomyth, 278; Moses, 281–282; Separation Exercise as hero’s journey and, 279–280, 282–283; Siddhartha Gautama (Buddha), 282; understood as metaphors for the psyche, 277

N
Napoleon, 250, 250–251
Napster music-sharing, 94
National Conference for Community and Justice (NCCJ): Camp Anytown program of the, 5, 25, 29, 30; history and philosophy of Camp Anytown and, 112–113. See also Camp Anytown program National service. See Voluntary national service
Native Americans, 246–247
Natural world: fractal phenomenon examples in the, 77–80; interdependence examples in the, 62–63; self-organization examples in the, 66

Nazi Holocaust: memories of the Holocaust of, 236, 264; Milgram’s disturbance by the, 39; Milgram’s obedience study to understand participation in, 37–41, 42, 43, 70, 208; Nazi German networks that allowed the, 107; Star of David armbands worn by Jews during, 236, 264

Networked democracy: illustration of the complex network of, 93fig; moving from social contract to, 91–93; Napster story illustrating power of complex network, 94–95

Neutrons, 62
New Amsterdam, 85
The New Jim Crow (Alexander), 219–221
New York City: early historic origins of, 85; Stonewall riots (1969) in, 101
New York City Coalition Against Hunger, 291
Newton, Isaac, 81–82
Nonlinearity concept: the butterfly effect example of the, 61–62; as property of complex systems, 59–60
Northeastern University, 94
Nuclear disarmament, 57

O
Obedience study. See Milgram’s obedience study (1950s)
O’Brien, Bill, 198
O’Doherty, Hugh, 241

Oppression: blue eyes/brown eyes exercise for teaching about oppression and, 48–52, 70–71, 164, 175; civil rights movement (1960s) fighting against, 3, 6, 19–20, 28, 33, 194–195, 203–204; of European peasants (1400s), 233; the existence of systems of racial privilege and, 208–211; the “Rosa Parks decision” to reject, 20, 203–204; slavery as institutionalized, 2, 220, 236.
See also Discrimination; Racism

Oprah (TV talk show), 52
Orange Revolution (Ukraine, 2004), 100
Orthodox Judaism, 104

“The other”: awakening to the illusion of separation of, 213–214; becoming aware of racism against, 210–211; higher consciousness of the wholeness “us” versus, 201–202; separation and disconnection of “us” and, 202

OUCD (Operating Understanding DC): growing up Black fishbowl activity with members of, 18–19, 21; historical tour taken with, 17; Karen Kalish founder of, 17, 19
Our Kids: The American Dream in Crisis (Putnam), 286

Outer worlds: awakening to inner wholeness connecting inner and, 203–206; hero’s journey and the two kingdoms of inner and, 281; understanding inner ways of being for, 257–263; whole-system perspective illuminating connection of inner and, 197–200

P
Palma, S., 289
Palmer, Parker: Healing the Heart of Democracy by, 203–204; A Hidden Wholeness by, 204–205; Separation Exercise research illuminating by “hidden wholeness” theme of, 204–206

Parable of the blind men and the elephant metaphor, 22–23

Parks, Rosa: inner choice of her decision, 203–204; as personal hero of author, 20
Peace Corps, 288
See also Asians; Blacks; Latinos
Perry, Gina, 41
Physical world building blocks, 62–63
Police: continued violence against Blacks by, 3–4, 34–35, 245, 261; Ismaaiyl Brinsley’s revenge shooting of, 261; Micha Javier Johnson’s violence against, 35; Prince Jones’s killed by, 252–253
The Post American World (Zakaria), 102
Power: influencing the system by taking individual responsibility and, 247–257; paradox of love and, 193–196
Power and Love (Kahane), 195–196
Power and love paradox: Adam Kahane’s insights in the challenge of the, 195–196; Exercise 1’s approach using power with absence of love, 194; Exercise 2’s avoiding “military-style” power but offering empathy, 194; Exercise 3’s use of both power and love, 193, 194; Martin Luther King Jr. during the civil rights movement on issue of, 194–195
Power structures: asking “Who’s in charge?” issue of individual power within, 247–257; classic intergroup experiments findings on, 54–55; Ta-Nehisi Coates’s story on Prince Jones shooting and dynamics of, 252–254; whole system level of analysis of Separation Exercises, 193–194. See also Systemic structures
Presidential election (2016), 35
Privilege: awakening to internalized, 222–223; as blinding some Americans to violence against people of color, 245; blue eyes/brown eyes exercise for teaching about oppression and, 48–52, 70–71, 164, 175; civil rights movement (1960s) fighting against, 3, 6, 19–20, 28, 33, 194–195; examples of awakening to systemic nature of, 258–262; existence of systems of oppression and, racial, 208–211; Separation Exercise finding on guilt and shame evoked by, 151–152; Separation Exercises (1, 2, 3) resource allocation and, 183; story of privileged painters, 259–260
Privileged painters story, 259–260
Protons, 62
Proust, Marcel, 297–298
Putnam, Robert D., 286
Q
Quality of presence: Connie and Laurie’s System (Exercise 2), 186–188, 190, 192; exercise rule differences due to differences in director, 185; John and Susan’s System (Exercise 3), 188–191, 192; quantitative metrics as manifestation of, 185–193; Thomasina and Drake’s System (Exercise 1), 186–187, 190
Quarks, 63
R
Race: existence of systems of oppression and privilege based on, 208–211; Separation Exercise findings on frustration over identified, 150; what’s really true about social change and, 4, 16, 22, 209–210. See also Ethnicity Race and social change reality: asking the question on what's really true about, 4, 16, 22, 209–210; Harvard Graduate School of Education enlightenments on, 22–32; how historical traumas and glories impacts, 236–247; how individual power and responsibility can influence, 247–257; OUCD growing up Black fishbowl activity revelations on, 18–19, 21; understanding the origins of the system for, 231–236. See also Real world lessons; Social change

Race-related violence: against unarmed Black men by police, 3, 34–35, 245, 252–253, 261; Jim Crow segregation, 3; as real-life Rorschach test, 4; revenge shootings of police, 35, 261; seeking to heal racial wounds of, 4–5

Racism: apartheid mindset, 219; blue eyes/brown eyes exercise for teaching students about, 48–52, 70–71, 164, 175; criminal justice system and, 219–221; dreaming state of White Americans blind to, 209, 213–215; how the Separation Exercise provides insight into, 6–9, 13, 30–31; metaphor of White males blind to existing, 209–211; the “Rosa Parks decision” to reject, 20, 203–204. See also Discrimination; Oppression

Real world lessons: awakening as an ongoing journey, 219–221; awakening process for people of color, 215–219; awakening process for white people, 211–215; awakening to internalized privilege and hierarchy, 222–229; impact of historical traumas and glories, 236–247; on inner ways of being and outer change, 257–263; racial privilege and oppression exists, 208–211; on the self in the system, 263–267; Separation Exercise’s relevance to “real world,” 6–9, 13, 30–31, 275–276; systems thinking for seeing the system, 207–208; understanding origins of the system, 231–236; on who’s in charge and individual power and responsibility, 247–257. See also Race and social change reality; Truth

“Rebellion” (Exercise 3), 135–140, 172–173, 192, 197

Remembrances of Things Past (Proust), 297–298

Remen, Rachel Naomi, 284

Revolutionary War, 1, 2, 99

Rice, Tamir, 3, 34

Rilke, Rainer Maria, 15–16

Robber's Cave Experiment: description of the, 46–47; experimental in-group formation stage of, 47; intergroup level of analysis of, 52–55, 70–71; intergroup relations—friction phase of, 47; intergroup relations—integration phase and superordinate goals of, 48

Robbins, H., 298

Rousseau, Jean-Jacques, 91

Rules. See Separation Exercises rules

Russia: attacks in Georgia by, 102; Tolstoy's War and Peace on Napoleon and czarist, 250–252. See also Soviet Union

Rwanda genocide, 52, 241, 246

S

Scharmer, Otto, 198–199

Science: complex systems as new approach to, 60–83; Isaac Newton’s breakthrough insights into, 81–82

Scott, Walter, 34

Self: discrimination and oppression internalized with the, 216–218; how our “strings” resonate based on our environmental encounters, 265–266; individual call to action for striving to access potential of one's higher, 273–276; ubuntu philosophy of, 272–273, 275, 295; understanding the system and context of the, 263–267
Self-organization: cellular automata tool for simulation of, 66–70; complex systems characteristic of, 65–72; evidence of system-level, 65–66; flocks of bird formation example of, 66, 70
Seneca Falls Convention (1848), 97
Senge, Peter, 207–208, 249–252
Separation Exercise (Camp Anytown): as civil rights movement petri dish, 6, 28; description of the, 5–6, 25–28, 111, 294; developing a complex methodology for study of, 31–32, 113–114; higher consciousness and deeper understanding outcomes of the, 30; interpersonal and intergroup level of analysis of, 10; metaphor hero's journey and mythical wisdom of the, 279–280, 282–283; Palmer's hidden wholeness theme illuminating the research on, 204–206; potential of individual power to transform system of, 248; processing session to reflect on individual experiences, 160–161; realizing the potential to learn from this, 28; receiving IRB approval for doctoral research using the, 29–32; relevance to the "real world" and social change insights, 6–9, 13, 30–31, 275–276; "time collapse" phenomenon observed during, 244; weighing ethical concerns of the, 30–31. See also Camp Anytown program; Human behavior experiments; Simulations; Staff members Separation Exercise intergroup level of analysis: asking what group were most important question for, 164–165; Exercise 3 "rebels" led by Eduardo, 135–140, 172–173, 192, 197, 201, 275; qualitative attention distribution for Exercises 2 and 3, 172–173; qualitative attention distribution grid for Exercise 1, 168–173; quantitative attention distribution for all exercises, 165–168; special attention in Exercise 2 on Asians, 134, 172.
See also Intergroup level of analysis
Separation Exercise interpersonal level of analysis: differences between those who did and did not break exercise, 159; Exercise 1—Thomasina and Drake's System, 147–151, 163; Exercise 2—Connie and Laurie's System, 151, 163–164; Exercise 3—John and Susan's System, 152–153, 163; exploring connection between individual and systemic change, 153–156; exploring individual agency, 161–164; findings on power of conformity, 156; frustration regarding their identified race/ethnicity finding, 150; guilt and shame evoked by hierarchical privilege, 151–152; lesson on possibility of overcoming fear, 160; memories evoked of a historical trauma finding of, 151; processing session to reflection on experiences, 160–161; questionnaire given to participants used for, 144–145; reports on experience of LGBTQ participant, 152–153; responses to how it felt to break the exercise, 157–161; responses to question about not breaking exercise earlier, 154–156; revelations on pain experienced by isolates, 149, 152; sample questionnaire responses by participants, 145–147; understanding self in the system, 264.
See also Interpersonal level of analysis
Separation Exercise narratives:
Connie and Laurie’s System (Exercise 2), 122–131; examining the three, 10, 114–115; John and Susan’s System (Exercise 3), 131–141; Thomasina and Drake’s System (Exercise 1), 115–122. See also specific exercise

Separation Exercise whole system level of analysis: awakening to inner wholeness through, 203–206; connection between the inner and outer worlds, 197–200; cross-case analysis of rules in design of each exercise, 183t–185t; cross-case analysis on development of whole systems over time, 178fig; exploring the different outcomes of each exercise, 178–182; exploring the different outcomes of the exercise, 178–182; Game of Life simulation used for, 178–180; how to design a simulation that exhibits qualities of real-life systems, 182; how wholeness reframes our understanding of events, 200–202; paradox of holding power and love, 193–196; paradox of structure and freedom evidenced in, 182–185; patterns that appear in all three exercises, 176–178; quantitative metrics manifesting the quality of presence of directors, 185–193; as reframing our understanding of exercise events, 200–202. See also Whole system level of analysis

Separation Exercises rules: to design simulation exhibiting qualities of real-life systems, 182; Eduardo-led rebellion during Exercise 3 by breaking the, 135–140, 172–173, 192, 197, 201, 275; formal activities assigned during exercise, 184t–185t; initial instructions for participants, 183t; initial status, 183t; paradox of Exercise 3’s greater creativity in spite of more rules, 182–185, 193; privilege and resource allocation, 183t; specific guidelines for counselors, 183t; whole system analysis of paradox of freedom and structure, 182–185

September 11, 2001, 242
Serbian–Croatian conflict, 241
Service Year Alliance, 290–291
The Seven Principles for Making Marriage Work (Gottman), 237–238, 246

Shame: experienced by those at top of hierarchy during Separate Exercises, 151–152; as response to awakening to racial privilege and oppression, 258–261
Sherif, C. W., 46
Sherif, M., 46
Siddhartha Gautama (Buddha), 282, 295

Simulations: agency as key difference between human beings and computer, 256–257; “Game of Life,” 72, 73–75, 178–181, 182. See also Human behavior experiments; Separation Exercise (Camp Anytown)
“Single consciousness,” 223, 225–226
“Six Degrees of Kevin Bacon,” 95
16th Street Baptist Church bombing (Birmingham), 20–21
Slavery: Civil War to end, 2; coexistence of early democracy with, 2; as historical trauma, 236; more Blacks under control of criminal justice system than in, 220
Smith, P., 42
The Social Animal (Brooks), 296–297
Social architecture: classic intergroup experiments findings on, 54–55; created by Camp Anytown’s Separation Exercise, 5–6, 25–28
Social change: civil rights movement (1960s) bringing about, 3, 6, 19–20, 28, 33; complex systems and dynamics of social transformations and, 95–103; dual call to action for, 269–298; the hundredth monkey phenomenon of, 57–58; inner ways of being for outer, 257–263; interrelatedness of individual transformation and, 228–229; King on paradox of power and love relevance to, 194–195; remaining central to American civic life, 3; Separation Exercise analysis on individual versus systemic, 153–156; understanding individual power, responsibility, and influence for, 247–248; understanding that the awakening process is necessary for, 229; what’s really true about race and, 4, 16, 22, 209–210. See also Race and social change reality

Social change movements: civil rights movement (1960s), 3, 6, 19–20, 28, 33; feminist, 97–98, 101, 104

Social contract: hierarchy constrained by the rulers–ruled, 92fig; networked democracy from the traditional, 91–92; Rousseau’s treatise (1762) on the, 91

Social isolates: Exercise 1—reports of individuals experience by, 149; Separation Exercise revelations on pain experienced by, 152

Social norms, 54–55

Social transformation: by American Revolution and French Revolution, 1, 2, 99, 100; dual call to action for, 269–298; Eduardo’s rebellion (Exercise 3) triggering, 135–140, 172–173, 194, 197, 201, 275; the Enlightenment bringing about, 1, 99; how an individual act of courage or resistance can drive, 197–198; how the paradox of power and love drives, 193–196; of the institution of marriage, 97–98; interrelatedness of social change and individual, 228–229; Kellerman’s argument on end of leadership and, 96, 97–101; scientific framework for appearance of symmetry in, 100–103; in the workplace, 98–99. See also Civil rights movement (1960s)

Sociopolitical systems: development of hierarchies in, 87–91; dynamics of social transformations in complex, 95–103; examining the development of, 86–87; final thoughts on whole systems perspective of, 103–109; moving from social contract to networked democracy, 91–95

The Souls of Black Folks (Du Bois), 222

Soviet Union: Cold War between the United States and, 52–53; collapse of the, 100; nuclear disarmament negotiations by the, 57. See also Russia

Staff members: “bringing forth a world” through their interior ways, 199; of Connie and Laurie’s System (Exercise 2), 122–131, 187–188, 190, 192; of John and Susan’s System (Exercise 3), 131–141, 188–191, 192; quantitative metrics manifesting quality of presence and level of engagement by, 185–193; Separation Exercises rules established by the, 182–185; of Thomasina and Drake’s System (Exercise 1), 115–122, 186–187, 190. See also Separation Exercise (Camp Anytown)

Stanford Prison Experiment (1970s): intergroup level of analysis of the, 43–46, 52, 70–71; potential to learn from the, 28
Stanton, Elizabeth Cady, 97, 100, 101
Star of David armbands, 236, 264
Star Wars (film), 279
The Starfish and the Spider: The Unstoppable Power of Leaderless Organizations (Brafman and Beckstrom), 93–94
Sterling, Alton, 3, 35
Stonewall riots (1969), 101
Sum, A., Khatiwada, I., 289
System categories: Category I systems, 73, 181; Category II systems, 73, 180; Category III systems, 73–74, 181; Category IV systems, 74, 181; lambda variable impact on the four, 74–75. See also Inner worlds
Systemic structures: Leo Tolstoy on “laws of history” or, 251–252; Nelson Mandela’s insights on root causes of injustice in, 254–255; Ta-Nehisi Coates on dynamics of power and responsibility on, 252–254; understanding how individual power and responsibility can change, 247–257. See also Power structures Systems: analyzing individual choices and global patterns in, 68fig, 69fig, 71–72; asking “Who’s in charge?” issue of individual power within, 247–257; criminal justice, 219–221; development of sociopolitical, 86–95; examining the development of complexity in, 85–86; final thoughts on whole systems perspective of, 103–109; historical traumas and glories of, 236–247; how to design a simulated system that exhibits qualities of real-life, 182; as an interdependent whole blind to reality of its wholeness, 201; making the jump to understanding wholeness from, 200–202; of racial privilege and oppression that still exist, 208–211; separation and disconnection of “us” and “them” within, 202; understanding individual power, responsibility, and influence on the, 247–248; understanding the origins of, 231–236; understanding the self in the, 263–267. See also Complex system dynamics; Whole-system perspectives
Systems thinking, 207–208
T
Teach for America, 291
Technical challenges, 12
Thich Nhat Hanh, 266–267
Thomasina and Drake’s System (Exercise 1): as Category II system, 180; connection between the inner and outer worlds of, 197–200; cross-case analysis of rules used in design of, 183t–185t; exploring different outcomes of each exercise including, 178–182; frequency of responses to agency question on, 163t; intergroup level of analysis of on Exercises 2, 3, and, 164–174; interpersonal level of analysis specific to, 147–151, 163t; narrative of the, 115–122; paradox of structure and freedom in the rules of, 182–189; patterns evidenced in all three exercises, 176–182; power with notable absence of love in, 193–194; qualitative attention distribution grid, 168–172; quality of presence and level of engagement by staff members, 186–187, 190; quantitative attention distribution, 165–166fig; reports of individual experience by group, 148t–149t; 10 rules in the, 182, 183t–185t; whole system level of analysis of all the exercises, 176–206
“Time collapse” phenomenon, 243–245
The Tipping Point (Gladwell), 58–59
Tipping point notion, 58–59
Tolstoy, Leo, 250–252
The Tonight Show (TV show), 51
Tree of Life model (Jewish Kabbalist mysticism), 274
“The Troubles” (Northern Ireland), 241
Trump, Donald, 35, 108
Truth: hero’s journey to the, 276–284; revealed in myths, 270. See also Awakening process; Real world lessons
Truth and Reconciliation (2008) [Canada], 247
Tubman, Harriet, 108
Tuskegee syphilis experiment, 3
Tutsi–Hutus violence (Rwanda), 52, 241, 246

U
Ubuntu philosophy, 272–273, 275, 295
Union Carbide disaster, 62
United Farm Workers, 101
United States: American Revolution creating the, 1, 2, 99, 100; Cold War between Soviet Union and the, 52–53, 57; dreaming state of White Americans in the, 209, 213–215; evidence of regression back to old hierarchies in the, 108; extreme economic inequality in the, 249; mistreatment of indigenous peoples by the, 246–247; nuclear disarmament negotiations by the, 57; slavery as part of the history of, 2, 220, 236. See also Democracy
University of Virginia’s Center for the Study of Mind and Human Interaction, 241

V
Velvet Revolution (Czechoslovakia, 1989), 100, 104
“Victim Olympics,” 266
Vietnam War, 44
VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America), 288
Volkan, Vamik, 241–242
Voluntary national service: CNCS oversite of AmeriCorps and efforts for, 291; increasing opportunities for, 288; myriad pathways for positive, 285; personal and social benefits of universal, 289–290, 293–294; proposed as universal civic rite of passage, 287; Service Year Alliance vision of, 290–291

W
Waking Up White, and Finding Myself in the Story of Race (Irving), 214–213
Waldrop, M., 66, 72, 74–75
War and Peace (Tolstoy), 250–252
“We Shall Overcome” (song), 21
Weimar Republic, 107
Wheatley, M., 61–62
White, B. J., 46
White females (Separation Exercise): Exercise 1—reports of individuals experience by labeled, 148t, 150; interpersonal level of analysis of, 10, 144–164; three Separation Exercise narratives on groups labeled, 115–141
White males (Separation Exercise): Exercise 1—reports of individuals experience by labeled, 148t; Exercise 3—complete unawareness to racism by, 209, 213–214; interpersonal level of analysis of, 10, 144–164; metaphor of blindness to existing racism by, 209–211; three Separation Exercise narratives on groups labeled, 115–141
Whites: awakening to internalized privilege of, 222–223; Camp Anytown’s Separation Exercise dividing out, 5–6, 25–28; conk hairstyle to try to look more, 216–218; Martin Luther King Jr. on paradox of power and love approach by, 195; metaphor of White males who are blind to existing racism, 209–211; the process of awakening for, 211–215; story of privileged painters, 259–260

Whole-system perspectives: applied to social change movements, 104–105; awakening to inner wholeness, 204–207; connecting individual choices and global patterns, 68fig, 69fig, 71–72; of the darkest hours in human history, 107–108; how it challenges us to reframing understanding of events, 200–203; illuminating our human experiences, 105–107; Scharmer on “blind spot” of leadership, 198–199; system’s “us” and “them” versus the awareness “us” of, 202; thoughts on the, 103–109. See also Separation Exercise whole system level of analysis; Systems Wholeness: awakening to inner, 203–206; how it challenges us to reframe our understanding of events, 200–202; a system as inter-dependent whole blind to reality of its, 201; system’s “us” and “them” versus the “us” awareness of, 202

Wikipedia: fractals as defined by, 75; as largest online compilation of knowledge, 75n.2

Women: receiving the right to vote (1920), 101; social transformation of marriage and family role of, 97–98; unique experiences of feminism for individual, 104. See also Feminist movement

Workplace transformation, 98–99

Worldviews: Descartes’s “I think, therefore I am,” 271; how the operations of complex systems challenges beliefs and, 81–83; influenced by Isaac Newton’s science, 81–82; ubuntu philosophy and, 272–273, 275, 295

Y

Yale University, 38

Yitro (Jethro), 89–90, 91, 96

Yousafzai, Malala, 108, 279, 295

YouthBuild, 291

Z

Zakaria, Fareed, 102

Zimbardo, Philip, 9, 28, 44, 45

Zulu tribe’s ubuntu philosophy, 272–273, 275, 295