Note: Page references in italics refer to exhibits and figures.

A
accessibility, to organization by internal facilitators, 318 accountability
  defined, 69–70
  power of informed choice compassion and, 72 as a Core Value, 61, 62–64, 65 (See also Five Core Values and, 70–71 in virtual meetings, 340 accuracy, word choice and, 209 Action Design, 61
active voice, 210–211 adjourning stage of teams (Tuckman), 128 Adkins, Mark, 341
ambiguity, 189–190
anger, dealing with, 267 anonymity, of electronic meeting systems, 338–339 Argyris, Chris, 12, 61, 104 Aristotle, 96, 252 assessment, of facilitator’s interest and ability to help, 282 assumptions about shared information, 75–76
  Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131, 132–133, 133
  of unilateral control mindset, 43, 45–46
  See also Test Assumptions and Inferences (Behavior 6) attending constant need to attend to group for diagnosing behavior, 189 for inferring emotion, 172–173 need for, 5–6
  See also inferences attribution
  attributing motives, 173–174
  fundamental attribution error, 190 testing assumptions and inferences, 103–104 testing meaning, 200–201 testing observations, 198, 198–199 audioconferencing, 336 authority, in teams, 124 autonomy, 137
awareness
  compassion and, 61, 62–64, 65, 71–75
    See also Five Core Values emotional intelligence and, 250

369 awareness (continued)
inferences about others’ inferences, 175 limitation of diagnostic frames, 191 of mindset, 37–41, 39–40 See also emotion

B Barnard, Chester, 310 basic facilitation
cofacilitation and, 313
developmental roles compared to basic facilitative roles, 23, 23–24 diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 216, 217 facilitative coach role, 19–21 intervention and, 182–183, 260–261
behavior
acknowledging and reinforcing good behavior, 179 focusing on patterns of behavior, 187 identifying behaviorally specific behaviors, 216 inferring causes of, 172 of mutual learning approach, 59–61, 70, 77 rational behavior, 44
results of unilateral control mindset, 50–54, 51 seeing behavior as behavior, 165–166
of unilateral control mindset, 42, 46–50, 47
See also diagnosing; Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning; ground rules; intervening; observation (Step 1) behavioral interdependence, 125, 126 beliefs, of facilitators, 17–18 Berke, Diane, 74
biographies (bios), for virtual meetings, 343 body language (nonverbal communication), 173, 252–253, 345 both-and thinking, 75 boundary management for cofacilitating, 310–314 team process for, 139, 143
Box, George, 128 brain, emotional reaction by, 250–251 broad intervention, deep intervention versus, 183

C
case studies
mutual learning mindset, CIO team feedback case, 61, 62–64 unilateral control mindset, CIO team feedback case, 38–41, 39–40 causality
attributing motives, 173–174
inferring causes of behavior, 172
root causes analysis, 152–153
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) as causal model, 129 celebration, by group, 266 choice. See decision making (Step 3) Churchill, Winston, 149 clients, groups as, 28–29. See also contracting; Initial Contact with a Primary Client Group Member (Stage 1) Clutterbuck, D., 20
coaches
clarifying role of, 5
facilitating skills needed by, 4
facilitative coach role, 15, 19–21
work of, xix cofacilitating, 299–315 debriefing with cofacilitator, 314 deciding whether to cofacilitate, 299–304, 304–305 developing boundaries with cofacilitator, 310–314 dividing and coordinating labor for, 306–308 division of labor and allocation of roles, 308–309
overview, 299
for virtual meetings, 342 cognitive bias, reducing, 190–191 colleagues, feedback for, 147 collusion, 31–33 combined technology, for virtual meetings, 337 commitment decision making and, 70–71 unilateral control and effects on, 52–53 communication
of emotions, 252–253
inferring and choosing words carefully, 209–212
of emotions, 252–253
nonverbal communication, 173, 252–253, 345
open coordination between cofacilitators, 312, 313–314 paraphrasing group members’ comments, 206–207 skipping intervention steps and, 205–206, 235–237, 236
team process for, 139, 142–143
See also Planning the Facilitation (Stage 2); Use Specific Examples and Agree on What Important Words Mean (Behavior 3) compassion blocks to, 74–75

as a Core Value, 61, 62–64, 65 (See also Five Core Values)
defined, 72–73
for intervening, 195–196
power of, 73
tree parts of, 71–72
for yourself, 254
See also emotion

competition, between cofacilitators, 302–303 Completing and Evaluating the Facilitation (Stage 5), 295–296 completion, of intervention, 208 complexity, of intervention, 207 computer operating system analogy, for mindset, 36–37 concepts, teaching, 185 Conducting the Facilitation (Stage 4), 295
confidentiality issues, 288–290, 327 confirmation bias, 190

conflict cofacilitating arrangements and conflict with client group, 311–312 disagreement, 76–77, 199–200, 201–202
emotion and, 257
internal facilitators and anticipation of potential role conflicts, 318, 322–323 team process for management of, 139, 141–142 unilateral control and effects on, 53
congruence between cofacilitators, 300–301, 310 of process and mutual learning, 237–243, 241 of virtual meetings and mutual learning, 338–339 consensus, 85 consequences, of not intervening, 179–180 consultants
clarifying role of, 5
cofacilitation arrangements and internal/external facilitators, 303, 309 facilitating skills needed by, 4 facilitative consultant role, overview, 15, 18–19 facilitative consultant role transition, 27–28 work of, six
See also contracting; training and consultation contact clients, 275, 275, 276, 276, 277 content attending to content of conversation, 191 beginning meetings and, 114–115 cofacilitation arrangements and knowledge of, 309 content decision-making, 16 content decision-making authority/input, defined, 16, 17 content inferences, 174–175 content-neutral views of facilitators, 14–18 emotional reaction to, 251 making content suggestions, 185–186 neutrality of facilitator, 16 context

Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131
of teams, 132–133, 133, 133–134, 143–150 contingency plans, for virtual meetings, 344 contracting, 271–297
Completing and Evaluating the Facilitation (Stage 5), 295–296
Conducting the Facilitation (Stage 4), 295 five stages of, overview, 272–274, 273 importance of, 272
Initial Contact with a Primary Client Group Member (Stage 1), 274–283, 275, 276, 278–279 for internal facilitators, 325, 326–328 to intervene on mutual learning behaviors, 214–216, 217, 218
overview, 271
Planning the Facilitation (Stage 2), 283–291, 284–286, 292 Reaching Agreement with Entire Group (Stage 3), 293–295
for virtual meetings, 342

conversation
attending to content of conversation, 191
diagnosing at speed of, 188 Discuss Undiscussable Issues (Behavior 8), 77, 78, 80, 117–119, 131, 230 coordination, between cofacilitators, 312, 313–314

Core Values. See Five Core Values cultural issues body language and, 173
cultural diversity, 252 See also organizational culture; team culture curiosity combining with transparency, 68 (See also transparency)
compassion and, 72
curiosity (continued)
as a Core Value, 61, 62–64, 65 (See also Five Core Values)
defined, 66
developing mindset for, 66–67 power of transparency and, 67–68
State Views and Ask Genuine Questions (Behavior 1), 77–79, 78, 89–94, 131, 220
for understanding, 61–65
See also questions defensiveness
helping others to reduce defensive thinking, 259–265 identifying defensive thinking, 263–264
overview, 253
delegation, by formal group leaders, 287–288 dependence mutual learning mindset for appropriate dependence, 84
unilateral control and effects on, 53
See also interdependence descriptive words, 209–210, 281 design
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) as design tool, 122 of virtual meetings, 343–344
See also team design
developmental facilitation for dealing with anger, 267 diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 216, 218
facilitative coach role, 19–21
facilitative roles compared to basic facilitative roles, 23, 23–24 “hot button” issues and, 265 to identify defensive thinking, 263–264 for intervening on emotion, 261–263 intervention and, 182, 183
intervention and skipping steps, 207, 235–237, 236 diagnosing, 157–163, 165–192 challenges of diagnosing behavior, 186–191 cofacilitating arrangements and, 312 conducting initial diagnosis, 280–281 decision making about (Step 3), 178–186
defined, 16, 157
of emotions, 255
meaning (Step 2), 171–178, 177
Mutual Learning Cycle for, 160–163, 161 observation (Step 1), 165–171, 168
overview, 16, 158–160, 159
parallel to intervening steps, 193–194, 194, 218–219, 219 See also diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors; emotion diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 213–231
cofacilitating arrangements for, 214–216, 217, 218
Discuss Undiscussable Issues (Behavior 8), 230
Explain Reasoning and Intent (Behavior 4), 222
Focus on Interests, not Positions (Behavior 5), 223, 224 ground rules difference from, 213–214 Jointly Design Next Steps (Behavior 7), 227, 228, 229
parallel between diagnostic and intervention steps, 218–219, 219 process, defined, 233 processes that are incongruent with mutual learning, 237–243, 241 on processes that espouse mutual learning, 244–246 Share All Relevant Information (Behavior 2), 220, 221
State Views and Ask Genuine Questions (Behavior 1), 220
Test Assumptions and Inferences (Behavior 6), 225, 226
Use Specific Examples and Agree on What Important Words Mean (Behavior 3), 221 using mutual learning to diagnose and intervene on other processes, 233–235, 234 when groups use processes ineffectively, 235–237, 236 diagnostic tool, Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) as, 122 direct expression, of emotion, 252–253 direct observation. See observation (Step 1) disagreement
  motivation and, 76–77
testing meaning and, 201–202 testing observations and, 199–200
See also conflict
Discuss Undiscussable Issues (Behavior 8)
diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 230
overview, 77, 78, 80, 117–119
as part of Team Effectiveness Model (TEAM), 131
See also Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning disengagement, in virtual meetings, 340 distraction, in virtual meetings, 340 division of labor, for cofacilitating, 308–309, 311

E
Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning, 87–120, 213–231 contracting with group for, 214–216, 217, 218
Discuss Undiscussable Issues (Behavior 8), 80, 117–119
Explain Reasoning and Intent (Behavior 4), 79, 99–101, 222
Focus on Interests, not Positions (Behavior 5), 79, 101–103, 223, 224 ground rules difference from diagnosing and intervening, 213–214
for intervening, 194–196
Jointly Design Next Steps (Behavior 7), 80, 114–117, 227, 228, 229 learning to use, 119 for observing and diagnosing group behavior, 167–169 (See also diagnosing; observation (Step 1))
overview, 77, 78, 87–89, 88
parallel between diagnostic and intervention steps, 218–219, 219
as part of Team Effectiveness Model (TEAM), 131
Share All Relevant Information (Behavior 2), 79, 94–96, 220, 221
State Views and Ask Genuine Questions (Behavior 1), 77–79, 89–94, 220
as team norms, 139
Test Assumptions and Inferences (Behavior 6), 79–80, 103–114, 104, 105, 106, 109, 110, 112, 113, 225, 226
Use Specific Examples and Agree on What Important Words Mean (Behavior 3), 79, 97–99, 221
See also individual names of Eight Behaviors either-or thinking, 75 electronic meeting systems (EMSs), 336, 337 anonymity of, 338–339
challenges of, 339–341
combining with other technology, 337
defined, 336
designing and facilitating, 341–344 e-mail (sample, for planning meeting), 284–286 emotion, 249–268 challenge of, 249–250 dealing with angry reactions, 267 deciding whether to intervene, 256–259
defined, 249
emotional intelligence, 250 expression of, 252–253 generating, 250–252
helping others to express emotion effectively, 259 helping others to express positive emotions, 265–266 helping others to reduce defensive thinking, 259–265, 261–264 emotion (continued) inferring, 172–173
intervening, overview, 259 learning from experience with, 267–268 managing, 254–256 minimizing negative feelings, 44 empathy, compassion versus, 73 environment, team context for, 143, 149–150 equity, of recognition, 211 evaluation Completing and Evaluating the Facilitation (Stage 5), 295–296 evaluating facilitator’s performance, independent of group’s results, 31 facilitator as evaluator, 28 facilitators’ responsibility for groups’ results, 29–33 by internal facilitators, 327

of internal facilitators, 327–328 reviewing problems of past client relationships, 323
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM), 128–129
See also results examples, specificity of, 98–99 experience, emotion triggered by, 252 experiential exercises congruence with mutual learning, 238–240 Lean and other continuous improvement approaches, 244–246
overview, 233
Explain Reasoning and Intent (Behavior 4) diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 222 Jointly Design Next Steps (intervening) and, 204
overview, 77, 78, 79, 99–101
as part of Team Effectiveness Model (TEAM), 131
for testing observations, 199, 203
See also Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning

F face-to-face meetings, virtual meetings compared to. See virtual meetings Facilitative Coaching (Schwarz, Davidson), 21 facilitative roles, 13–33 basic and developmental roles, 23, 23–24 beliefs of facilitators and, 17–18 defining, 14–18, 15 describing approach to clients, 281–282 different approaches to, xiii distinguishing facilitative role, 211 facilitative, defined, 13 facilitative coach role, 19–21
facilitative consultant role, 18–19 facilitative leader role, 13, 18, 20, 23 facilitative mediator role, 21–22, 25–27
facilitative trainer role, 15, 21 facilitator check, 182, 186 facilitator’s relationship to group, 251 foundation for facilitative skills, xx Group as client of facilitators, 28–29 Group facilitators, defined, 14 moving from facilitator role to another facilitative role, 25–28 Mutual Learning Cycle, overview, 7, 10, 10
overview, 13–14
responsibility for group’s results and, 29–33 serving in multiple roles, 25 virtual meetings and facilitative role, 341–342 work of facilitators, xix See also cofacilitating; contracting faculty members, work of, xix feedback from colleagues, 147 survey feedback, 147–148
team context for, 143, 146–147
team feedback process, 240–242, 241
in virtual meetings, 339
feeling generating emotion and, 250–251 sharing feelings, 96
See also emotion
financial issues financial clients/sponsors, 275, 275 mutual learning mindset for, 82
unilateral control and effects on, 52
Five Core Values compassion, 71–75 informed choice and accountability, 68–71
overview, 61, 62–64, 65
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131, 132–133, 133 transparency and curiosity, 61–68 See also accountability; compassion; curiosity; informed choice; transparency flexible arrangement, for cofacilitating, 308 focus, between cofacilitators, 301 Focus on Interests, not Positions (Behavior 5) diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 223, 224 facilitator’s interest and ability to help, 282
overview, 77, 78, 79, 101–103
as part of Team Effectiveness Model (TEAM), 131
See also Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning
follow through, on intervention, 258–259 forming stage of teams (Tuckman), 128–129 four-stage model of teams (Tuckman), 128–129 fundamental attribution error, 190

G
Gandhi, M., 329
gifts, emotion and, 256–257
"give-up-control" approach, 55 goals
  clarity of, 135
  goal interdependence, 125, 125
  unilateral control mindset and, 43 Goleman, Daniel, 250 good behavior, acknowledging and reinforcing, 179 ground rules deciding on, 290–291 difference from diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 213–214 Eight Behaviors as, 88–89 group members’ commitment to, 216 improving processes and, 17 “praise in public, criticize in private,” 97–98, 214 reaching agreement with entire group, 294 for team members, 139 group facilitation diagnosing and intervening, overview, xx–xxi difficulty of groups, 7 effects of interdependence on teams versus groups, 124–126 facilitators as third parties, 14 group as client, 28–29
group facilitators, defined, 14 group intervention, 6, 114 groups compared to teams, 122–127, 125
need for, 3, 5–6
responsibility for group results, 29–33
See also team design
Group Facilitation (International Association of Facilitators), 341 group process partners, 342 groups/group members addressing group members by name, 97–98, 184, 198, 210, 344–345 addressing group members’ concerns, 294–295
  as clients, 28–29
cofacilitation and needs of, 301–302 communicating with, 209–212 determining fit for teams versus groups, 126–127 emotions of (See emotion) facilitator’s relationship to, 251 group effectiveness and deciding to intervene, 179 internal facilitators contacted by, 326 to intervene with individuals versus groups, 183–184 meeting individually with group members, 288–289 Mutual Learning Cycle, overview, 7, 10, 10
  size of group and virtual meetings, 337–338 teams compared to, 122–127, 125 (See also Team Effectiveness Model (TEM)) See also diagnosing; group facilitation;
  Reaching Agreement with Entire Group (Stage 3)
Group Support Systems (GSS), 336

H
Hackman, J. Richard, 122–123 halo effect, 190
Hawkins, P., 20
high-level inferences
  cofacilitating and, 300 contracting and, 289
  defined, 176–178, 177
  experiential exercises and, 239 for testing meaning, 200–201 for testing observations, 198
Hohn, Greg, 256
“hot button” issues, 264–265 human resources facilitator roles of HR business partners, 18 work of HR consultants, xix humor reacting to, 266
  using care with, 212

I imperatives, avoiding, 211–212 incongruence, between process and mutual learning, 237–243, 241 indirect expression, of emotion, 252–253 individuals intervening with, 183–184 individuals (continued)
meeting individually with group members, 288–289 See also groups/group members; individual well-being individual well-being mutual learning mindset for positive results in, 59–61, 60, 81, 84 overview, xviii–xix
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131
unilateral control and effects on, 51, 54 inferences about others’ inferences, 175 as data, 107–111
defined, 104, 104–107, 105, 171–172
distinguishing between behavior and, 165–166 high-level inferences, 176–178, 177, 198, 200–201, 239, 289, 300 inferring causes of behavior, 172
inferring emotion, 172–173 Ladder of Inference, 104, 104–111, 105, 106, 109, 110, 112 making inferences about content, 174–175 making inferences about process, 174 moving between observation and inference, 176 recognizing, 175–176 testing, for emotion, 256 See also Ladder of Inference; meaning (Step 2); Test Assumptions and Inferences (Behavior 6); test observations (Step 4) information
assumptions about shared information, 75–76 information overload in virtual meetings, 340 informed choice for, 61, 62–64, 65, 68–71, 72 sharing, 160
team context for feedback and, 143, 146–147
team feedback process, 240–242, 241
See also Share All Relevant Information (Behavior 2) informed choice for better decisions and commitment, 68–69
compassion and, 72
as a Core Value, 61, 62–64, 65 (See also Five Core Values)
defined, 68
power of accountability and, 70–71
Initial Contact with a Primary Client Group Member (Stage 1) assessing interest and ability to help, 282 conducting initial diagnosis, 280–281 describing approach to facilitation, 281–282 identifying primary client group, 276–280, 278–279
overview, 274
recognizing different types of clients, 274–275, 275 summarizing and agreeing on next steps, 282–283 working with contact client, 275–276, 276 innovation, mutual learning mindset for, 82 insider image, of internal facilitators, 319 intention. See Explain Reasoning and Intent (Behavior 4) interdependence importance of, in teams, 124–126 task interdependence, 123, 125, 127, 151, 152 team communication and, 143 team feedback process, 240–242, 241
types of, 125 intermediate clients, 275, 275 internals, 317–331
accessibility to organization by, 318 advantages and disadvantages of role, 317–318 anticipating potential role conflicts, 318, 322–323 changing role from outside in, 329–330 cofacilitation arrangements and, 303, 309 contracting process, with management, 326–328 contracting process for, 325 creating role of, 320–321 deciding on appropriate role for, 322 insider image of, 319 job security of, 319 mutual learning approach tailored for, 325–326
overview, 317
reviewing problems of past client relationships, 323 seeking agreement to switch roles, 323 shaping of role, 321, 322 willingness to give up role, 323–324 International Association of Facilitators, 341 interorganizational teams/groups, 146–147, 150 intervener-recorder arrangement, for cofacilitating, 306 intervening, 157–163, 193–212 changing order of steps for, 208 choosing among possible interventions, 181–183 choosing words carefully for, 209–212 consequences of not intervening, 179–180 deciding on type of intervention, 184–186 deciding whether to intervene, overview, 178 deciding with whom to intervene, 183–184
defined, 16, 157
depth of intervention, 251–252
Eight Behaviors for, 194–196
follow-through on intervention, 258–259 group agreement about, 180–181 intervention as unfolding steps, 181–182 intervention-reaction arrangement, for cofacilitating, 307–308 Jointly Design Next Steps (Step 6), 203–205 moving through intervention steps, 205–208 Mutual Learning Cycle for, 160–163, 161
mutual learning mindset for, 194–196, 196–197
overview, 157, 160
parallel to diagnostic steps, 193–194, 194, 218–219, 219 repeating steps of observation before decision making, 178–179 skills for intervention, 181 skipping steps of, 205, 235–237, 236 Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) as intervention, 122 test meaning (Step 5), 200–203 test observations (Step 4), 198, 198–200
for virtual meetings, 345
See also decision making (Step 3); diagnosing; diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors; emotion

J jargon, avoiding, 209
job security, of internal facilitators, 319 Jointly Design Next Steps (Behavior 7), 77, 78, 80 behavior, overview, 114–117 diagnosing and intervening, overview, 159, 161, 163
diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 227, 228, 229
as part of Team Effectiveness Model (TEAM), 131
See also Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning; Jointly Design Next Steps (Step 6) Jointly Design Next Steps (Step 6) explaining, 204
helping group members to design next steps, 204 honoring group members’ decisions about, 204–205 Initial Contact with a Primary Client Group Member and, 282–283
overview, 203–204
using models to diagnose groups, overview, 168 judgment
as block to compassion, 74
value judgments, 174

L
Ladder of Inference
deciding to test inferences, 111 inferences, defined, 103–104 inferences as data, 107 inferences as testable, 107–111, 109, 110 “lowering your ladder,” 108, 161 mutual learning cycle of, 111, 112
overview, 104, 104–107, 105, 106
language considerations choosing wording carefully, 209–212 group agreement about wording, 97–99, 281–282 misunderstanding, 207 paraphrasing, 206–207
See also communication; Use Specific Examples and Agree on What Important Words Mean (Behavior 3) leadership clarifying roles of team members, 137, 158 facilitator leader role, 13, 18, 20, 23 leaders’ growth (Lean principle), 245 leadership training, 243
team norms and, 139
Lean techniques diagnosing and intervening with, 244–245 principles of, 245–246
learning
cofacilitation for, 302–303 differences as opportunities for, 76 from experience, 252 unilateral control, 56–57 to use Eight Behaviors, 119 Lewin, Kurt, 128, 312–314
Lincoln, Abraham, 136 listening. See attending; communication; conversation long-term philosophy (Lean principle), 245 “lowering your ladder,” 108, 161 low-level inferences
defined, 176–178, 177
“lowering your ladder,” 108, 161
for testing observations, 198, 198–199
M material resources
team context for, 143, 148–149
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 152
Mayer, John, 250
McArthur, Phil, 61
meaning (Step 2)
attributing motives for, 173–174 diagnosing and intervening, overview, 159, 161, 162
inferences, defined, 104, 104–107, 105, 171–172 inferring causes of behavior for, 172 inferring emotion for, 172–173 low-level and high-level inferences for, 176–178, 177 making inferences about content, 174–175 making inferences about others’ inferences, 175 making inferences about process, 174
moving between observation and inference, 176 observing while making meaning, 187–188 recognizing inferences, 175–176
using models to diagnose groups, overview, 168 value judgments and, 174 See also test meaning (Step 5) mediation
facilitative mediator role, 21–22
facilitative mediator role transition, 25–27 mediate, defined, 22 work of mediators, xix membership, in teams, 123–124, 136–137 meta-interventions, 258–259 mindset of cofacilitators, 310 defined, xvii–xviii for design, 132–133, 133 (See also Team Effectiveness Model (TEM)) facilitative style and, 7 identifying, for design, 132–133, 133 for observation (Step 1), 170 reducing cognitive bias, 190–191 team culture and, 138
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 150–151 mission
team context and, 143, 144
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 150–151 team structure and, 134–135 misunderstanding, intervening in, 207 Model II (Argyris, Schön), 61 modeling
by internal facilitators, 329–330
of unilateral control, 56–57 Moore, Christopher, 21–22 motivation
attributing motives, 173–174
disagreement and, 76–77 motivating task for teams, 135–136 multiple facilitative roles, serving in, 25 Mutual Learning Cycle
diagnosing and intervening, 158, 160–163, 161
Eight Behaviors for, 112–114 of Ladder of Inference, 111, 112
overview, 6, 7, 10, 10
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM)
integration of, xxiii (See also Team Effectiveness Model (TEM)) See also mutual learning mindset mutual learning mindset, 59–86 assumptions of, 75–77 behaviors for, 77–80, 78 diagnosing and intervening on (See diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors) expressing emotions with, 253 for facilitative mediators, 22 Five Core Values of, 61–75, 62–64, 65
for intervening, 194–196, 196–197 moving from unilateral control mindset to, 37
Mutual Learning Cycle, overview, 7, 10, 10
(See also Mutual Learning Cycle) mutual learning model concept, 61
for observation (Step 1), 167–169
overview, 59–61, 60
reinforcing cycles of, 84–85 results of, 80–84, 81 tailored for internal facilitators, 325–326 Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) compared to, 131, 131 unilateral control mindset compared to, 37, 85–86
See also diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors; Five Core Values

N names, identifying people by, 97–98, 184, 198, 210, 344–345 negative feelings, minimizing expression of, 44 neutrality, of facilitators, 17–18
Nicomachean Ethics (Aristotle), 96, 252
nonverbal communication, 173, 252–253, 345 norming stage of teams (Tuckman), 128–129 norms, of teams, 138–139

O
observation (Step 1)
choosing diagnostic models to discern behaviors, 166–167, 168 to diagnose groups, overview, 165 inferences and, 105–107, 109, 112 intervening and diagnosing, overview, 159, 161, 161 making meaning while observing, 187–188 mindset for, 170
moving between observation and inference, 176 mutual learning behaviors for, 167–169 observing behavior, 165–166
repeating steps of observation before decision making, 178–179 Team Effectiveness Models (TEM) for, 169 variations of problem-solving models for, 170–171 See also test observations (Step 4) online-offline arrangement, for cofacilitating, 307 operating system analogy, for mindset, 36–37 organizational culture accessibility to, by internal facilitators, 318 Lean principle for, 245 processes as part of, 240–243, 241 role creation, for internal facilitators, 320–321 team context, 137–138, 143, 144–145
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 150–151 organization development consultants, work of, xix outcome interdependence, 125, 125

P
paraphrasing, of group members’ comments, 206–207 partners, working with. See cofacilitating partnership (Lean principle), 246 Pascal, Blaise, 73 patterns of behavior, focusing on, 187 performance evaluation of internal facilitators’ performance, 327–328 mutual learning mindset for positive results in, 59–61, 60, 80–83, 81
overview, xviii
performance management processes, 242–243 performing stage of teams (Tuckman), 128–129
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131
unilateral control and effects on, 50–51, 51 perspective difference in, 76
State Views and Ask Genuine Questions (Behavior 1), 89–94
photos, for virtual meetings, 343 physical environment, team context for, 143, 149–150 Planning the Facilitation (Stage 2)
confidentiality issues, 288–290
deciding on ground rules, 290–291 finding representative subgroups, 286–287 identifying participants for planning meeting, 283–286 meeting individually with group members, 288–289
overview, 283
problems of formal group leader delegating planning to group members, 287–288 questions for developing effective agreement, 284 sample planning e-mail, 284–286 writing tentative agreement for, 291, 292 positions, interests versus, 101–103 positive emotion, helping group to express, 265–266 practice, for Eight Behaviors, 119 “praise in public, criticize in private,” 97–98, 214 primary clients, identifying, 274–275, 275, 276–280, 278–279. See also Initial Contact with a Primary Client Group Member (Stage 1) primary-secondary arrangement, for cofacilitating, 306–307 problem solving shared understanding, 93 team process for, 139, 140
  variations of models for observation (Step 1), 170–171 See also observation (Step 1) process (processes), 233–247 for beginning meetings, 114–115
  defined, 16–17, 233
  diagnosing and intervening on processes that are incongruent with mutual learning, 237–243, 241 diagnosing and intervening on processes that espouse mutual learning, 244–246 diagnosing and intervening when groups use processes ineffectively, 235–237, 236 Lean principle for, 245
  managing group process and structure for intervention, 185 neutrality of facilitators, 17–18 procedural matters (See ground rules) process expertise of facilitators, 215 process inferences, 174, 202
  Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131
  Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 152
  of teams, 132–133, 133, 133–134, 139–143
  using mutual learning to diagnose and intervene on other processes, 233–235, 234 progress, celebrating, 266 proper nouns, use of, 210 pros and cons process, 238
Putnam, Robert, 61
Q
questions about which interventions to make, 235–237, 236 answering, 8
  to ask potential cofacilitators, 304, 304–305 avoiding stating inferences as, 202–203 contracting to intervene on mutual learning behaviors, 214–215 to identify clients, 276, 276–280, 278–279 intervention steps and requests, 206 for planning meeting, 284 See also State Views and Ask Genuine Questions (Behavior 1) R
rational behavior, 44
Reaching Agreement with Entire Group (Stage 3) about intervention, 180–181 about wording, 97–99, 281–282 addressing group members’ concerns, 294–295 agreeing on ground rules, 294 developing group agreement, 6 for diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 214–216, 217, 218 group decisions about risk, 239–240 Jointly Design Next Steps (Behavior 7), 114–117, 227, 228, 229 meeting briefly with planning representatives, 293 mutual learning mindset for facilitators versus groups, 59
  overview, 293–294
  perspective and, 76 reaching agreements, overview, xxi–xxii skipping intervention steps and, 206, 235–237, 236
  Use Specific Examples and Agree on What Important Words Mean (Behavior 3), 97–99, 221 using group agreement to observe behavior, 170–171 See also contracting real teams, 123 reasoning. See Explain Reasoning and Intent (Behavior 4) recognition, equity of, 211 redesign, of existing teams/groups, 152–153 reframing, for intervention, 186, 258 reinforcement of good behavior, 179
  of unilateral control mindset, 55–56
relationship. See working relationships repetition, of intervention steps, 207–208 representative subgroups, 286–287 resources. See material resources response, inferences and, 106, 107 results
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131
of unilateral control mindset, 42, 50–54, 51 reward interdependence, 125, 125 rewards, team context and, 143, 145–146 risk, group decisions about, 239–240 Roger Schwarz & Associates, 241, 241–242, 365–366
role allocation, for cofacilitating, 308–309, 311 role of facilitators. See facilitative roles role of internals. See internals roles of team members, 137, 158
root causes analysis, 152–153
rules, Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 152. See also process (processes)

S Salovey, Peter, 250 satisfaction. See individual well-being Schein, Edgar, 202
Schön, D. A., 61, 104
Schwarz, Dale, 21
Schwarz, Roger
contact information, 363
Roger Schwarz & Associates, 241, 241–242, 365–366
The Skilled Facilitator, xvi–xxiii, 215
Skilled Facilitator Intensive workshop, 367–368
Smart Leaders, Smarter Teams, xviii, xix, 4, 9, 35, 59
Smith, Diana McLain, 61
solutions, interests versus, 101–103 space allocation, team context for, 143, 149–150
stability, of team membership, 124 stages, of contracting. See Completing and Evaluating the Facilitation (Stage 5);
Conducting the Facilitation (Stage 4);
contracting; Initial Contact with a Primary Client Group Member (Stage 1); Planning
the Facilitation (Stage 2); Reaching Agreement with Entire Group (Stage 3)
State Views and Ask Genuine Questions (Behavior 1)
diagnosing and intervening on mutual
learning behaviors, 220
overview, 76, 77–79, 78, 89–94
as part of Team Effectiveness Model
(TEAM), 131
See also curiosity; Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning; questions storming stage of teams (Tuckman), 128–129
structure
managing group process and structure for intervention, 185
See also Eight Behaviors for Mutual
Learning
Skilled Facilitator, The (Schwarz)
audience for, xix
differences in third edition, xxiii
early editions, 215
features of, xxii
goals of, xvii–xviii
organization of, xii–xxii
Skilled Facilitator approach, 3–12
clarifying role of, 5
developing group agreement with, 6 experiencing, 10–11
for group intervention, 6
importance of facilitator skills, 3–5 integrating personal style with, 11–12 need for group facilitation, 3, 5–6
overview, 4–7, 8–10, 10
See also contracting; diagnosing; Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning;
facilitative roles; Five Core Values;
internals; intervening; Mutual Learning Cycle; mutual learning mindset; unilateral control mindset Skilled Facilitator Intensive workshop (Roger Schwarz & Associates), 367–368
Smart Leaders, Smarter Teams (Schwarz),
xviii, xix, 4, 9, 35, 59
Smith, Diana McLain, 61
space allocation, team context for, 143, 149–150
stability, of team membership, 124
stages, of contracting. See Completing and Evaluating the Facilitation (Stage 5);
Conducting the Facilitation (Stage 4);
contracting; Initial Contact with a Primary Client Group Member (Stage 1); Planning
the Facilitation (Stage 2); Reaching
Agreement with Entire Group (Stage 3)
State Views and Ask Genuine Questions (Behavior 1)
diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 220
overview, 76, 77–79, 78, 89–94
as part of Team Effectiveness Model
(TEAM), 131
See also curiosity; Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning; questions
storming stage of teams (Tuckman), 128–129
structure
managing group process and structure for
intervention, 185
See also Eight Behaviors for Mutual
Learning
Skilled Facilitator, The (Schwarz)
audience for, xix
differences in third edition, xxiii
early editions, 215
features of, xxiii
goals of, xvii–xviii
organization of, xii–xxii Skilled Facilitator approach, 3–12
clarifying role of, 5
developing group agreement with, 6 experiencing, 10–11
for group intervention, 6
importance of facilitator skills, 3–5 integrating personal style with, 11–12
need for group facilitation, 3, 5–6
overview, 4–7, 8–10, 10
See also contracting; diagnosing; Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning;
facilitative roles; Five Core Values;
internals; intervening; Mutual Learning
Cycle; mutual learning mindset; unilateral
control mindset Skilled Facilitator Intensive workshop (Roger Schwarz & Associates), 367–368
Smart Leaders, Smarter Teams (Schwarz),
xviii, xix, 4, 9, 35, 59
Smith, Diana McLain, 61
space allocation, team context for, 143, 149–150
stability, of team membership, 124
stages, of contracting. See Completing and Evaluating the Facilitation (Stage 5);
Conducting the Facilitation (Stage 4);
contracting; Initial Contact with a Primary Client Group Member (Stage 1); Planning
the Facilitation (Stage 2); Reaching
Agreement with Entire Group (Stage 3)
State Views and Ask Genuine Questions (Behavior 1)
diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 220
overview, 76, 77–79, 78, 89–94
as part of Team Effectiveness Model
(TEAM), 131
See also curiosity; Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning; questions
storming stage of teams (Tuckman), 128–129
structure
managing group process and structure for
intervention, 185
structure (continued)
- noticing underlying structure of behavior, 188
- structural interdependence, 125, 125
- Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131 of teams, 132–139, 133
- subgroups, 25–27, 286–287
- survey feedback, 147–148
- symptoms, of emotion, 254–255
- synchronous meetings, 335
- systems approach, to facilitating, xviii, 8–10
- systems information, 146

T
- task interdependence
    - overview, 123, 125, 127
    - Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 151, 152
    - task-relationship arrangement, for cofacilitating, 307
- team culture
    - cooperating with other teams, 146–147
    - effectiveness of, 137–138
    - interorganizational teams/groups, 146–147, 150
- team design
    - determining fit for teams versus groups, 126–127
    - facilitative coach role and, 20
    - groups compared to teams, 122–127, 125
    - identifying mindset for, 132–133, 133
    - membership in teams, 123–124, 136–137
    - mindset for design, 132–133, 133
    - Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 150–153
    - TEM as design tool, 122
- Test Assumptions and Inferences (Behavior 6)
    - assumptions about shared information, 75–76
    - assumptions of unilateral control mindset, 43, 45–46
    - diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 225, 226
    - Ladder of Inference, 104, 104–111, 105, 106, 109, 110, 112
    - overview, 77, 78, 79–80, 103–104 (See also inferences)
- termination
    - appropriateness of ending role of facilitator, 25–28
    - of facilitation arrangements, for internal facilitators, 327
- technical partners, 342
- technology
    - choosing technology for virtual meetings, 337–338
    - feedback and, 148
    - Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 151
    - types of technology for virtual meetings, 336–337
- Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 150–153
- mindset for design, 132–133, 133
- mutual learning cycle integration in, xxiii
- mutual learning mindset compared to, 131, 131
- for observation (Step 1), 169
- overview, 5–6, 12, 121
- as practical team model, 128–131, 130, 131
- team context, 133–134, 143–150
- team process, 133–134, 139–143
- team structure, 133–139
- Team Effectiveness Survey (Roger Schwarz & Associates), 241, 241–242
- Test Assumptions and Inferences (Behavior 6)
    - assumptions about shared information, 75–76
    - assumptions of unilateral control mindset, 43, 45–46
    - diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 225, 226
    - Ladder of Inference, 104, 104–111, 105, 106, 109, 110, 112
    - overview, 77, 78, 79–80, 103–104 (See also inferences)
- termination
    - appropriateness of ending role of facilitator, 25–28
    - of facilitation arrangements, for internal facilitators, 327
overview, 200–201
using models to diagnose groups, overview, 168
test observations (Step 4) addressing members by name for, 198 diagnosing and intervening, overview, 159, 161, 162 disagreement about, 199–200 explaining intervention, 198
overview, 198
sharing observations without adding meaning, 198, 198–199
using models to diagnose groups, overview, 168
T-groups, 312–314
therapy, group facilitation versus, 250 thinking awareness about, 37–41, 39–40 generating emotion and, 250–251
See also mindset; mutual learning mindset; unilateral control mindset 360-degree feedback, 147–148, 241 time issues cofacilitation and pace of work, 309 effect of mindset on implementation time, 52 managing emotions and, 254
team norms and, 138–139
team stability and, 124
of virtual meetings, 343 training and consultation clarifying role of trainers, 5
cofacilitation and, 309 facilitating skills needed by trainers, 4 facilitative trainer role, 15, 21
leadership training, 243
team context for, 143, 149
T-groups, 312–314
work of trainers, xix transparency
compassion and, 72
as a Core Value, 61, 62–64, 65 (See also Five Core Values) curiosity combined with, 68 (See also curiosity)
defined, 61
Explain Reasoning and Intent (Behavior 4) and, 100–101
power of curiosity and, 67–68 sharing, 66–67
for understanding, 61–65
trust high-level inferences and, 177
mutual learning mindset for, 83
unilateral control and effects on, 53
in virtual meetings, 340
Tuckman, Bruce, 128–129
U ultimate clients, 275, 275 understanding compassion versus, 73
transparency and curiosity for, 65, 66–68 understanding (Lean principle), 246 unilateral control mindset, 35–58 awareness of mindset, 37–41, 39–40 core assumptions of, 43, 45–46 for diagnosing, 158 difficulty of transparency with, 65 (See also Five Core Values)
emotion and, 253
“give-up-control” approach and, 55 ineffectiveness of, 37 learning unilateral control, 56–57 mindset as operating system, 56–57 moving to mutual learning from, 57–58 mutual learning mindset compared to, 37, 85–86
overview, 35–36, 41
reinforcement of, 55–56
results, 42, 50–54, 51
team design and, 132–133, 133 team process compared to, 141 unilateral control behaviors, 42, 46–50, 47 values of, 41–44, 42, 43
Use Specific Examples and Agree on What Important Words Mean (Behavior 3) diagnosing and intervening on mutual learning behaviors, 221
overview, 77, 78, 79, 97–99
as part of Team Effectiveness Model (TEAM), 131 See also Eight Behaviors for Mutual Learning
V values
mindset as operating system, 36
unilateral control mindset and, 41–44, 42, 43
value judgments, 174
See also Five Core Values
victimizing, 74
videoconferencing, 336, 343–344 virtual meetings, 335–345 anonymity and incongruence between EMS technology and mutual learning, 338–339 challenges of, 339–341
cofacilitating for, 342 contracting for, 342 deciding which technology to use, 337–338 designing meeting for, 343–344 facilitative role for, 341–342 recommendations for, 344–345 synchronous meetings with, 335 types of technology for, 336–337 vision
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) for designing/redesigning teams or groups, 150–151
team structure and, 134–135 visual aids, for virtual meetings, 343, 344 visual controls (Lean principle), 245

W
Web conferencing, 336
Womack, James, 245
word choice, importance of, 209–212, 281–282 work environment, team context for, 143, 149–150 working relationships group-facilitator relationship to, 251 mutual learning mindset for positive results in, 59–61, 60, 81, 83–84
overview, xviii
Team Effectiveness Model (TEM) and, 129–131, 130, 131
unilateral control and effects on, 51, 52–53 workload, reasonableness of, 139 written agreements, for planning meetings, 291, 292

Y
“you idiot” test, 92

Z zone of deference, 310