Subject Index

Active Parenting Now, 61, 109

Adlerian approach:
- annotated bibliography, 180–184
- consultation model and theoretical integration, 10–11, 17
- encouragement, 110–111
- family atmosphere, 115–116
- key constructs/principles, 10, 109–116
- logical consequences, 112–115
- loss of cooperation, 115
- loss or delay of privilege, 114
- restitution, 115
- mental health consultation, 13
- mistaken goals of behavior, 111–112

Administrators, 89–99
- crisis intervention, 90–94
- frequently asked questions from, 47–48
- schoolwide plans (preventive and developmental), 92–99
- selling consultation plan to, 79

Advertising and soliciting clients, 141–142

American Counseling Association (ACA), 19, 131

American School Counselor Association (ASCA), 19, 117

Automatic referral, 75

Behavior(s):
- choosing those to work on, 37–41
- cognitive behavior, 11, 17
- encouraging/reinforcing desired, 98
- mistaken goals of (Adlerian theory), 111–112

Behavioral consultation models, 12–13

Behavioral theories/techniques, 11, 17

Bibliography, annotated, 179–184

Bowdoin Parent Education Program, 62–64

Business partners, 103–104

Case consultation model, 31–42
- building your skills, 166–167
- feedback form, 164
- overview, 16, 31–32
- Step I: preparing for the consultation (formulating goals/planning), 32–34
- Step II: defining the process and developing the relationship, 34–35
- Step III: presenting and gathering information about the student, 35–37
- clarifying goal in concrete terms, 36
- clarifying problem in concrete terms, 35–36
- clarifying what has been tried and what the consultee thinks may work, 36
- filling in information gaps, 36–37
- Step IV: choosing behaviors to work on—identifying/planning intervention and follow-up strategies, 37–41
- clarifying plan for intervention and follow-up, 38
- sample consultation record form, 40
- sample plan for improvement, 39
- Step V: follow-up, 41–42

Change Book, The: A Blueprint for Technology Transfer, 94–95

Children, minor:
- confidentiality issues, 138
- consent of parent/guardian, 27
- Early Childhood STEP, 59

Civic clubs, 103

Classroom meetings, 81–87
- barriers to effective use of, and strategies for overcoming, 86–87
- benefits, 81–82
- encouragement/connection activities, 84
- format, 82–83
- sample agenda, 83
- teacher survey/evaluation, 85
- teacher training for, 84–86
Client(s):
minor children, 27, 138
rights of, 133
served by others, 133–134
soliciting, 141–142
welfare of, 132
Coaching, 166
Cognitive behavior, 11, 17
Collaboration, consultation versus, 15
Collaborative-dependent model, 14
Collaborative-independent model, 14–15
Community:
consultation in, 101–105
  business partners or partners in education, 103–104
  community tasks forces, 104
  grandparent program, 104
  keys to successful community involvement, 104–105
  parent-education groups, 102–103
  parent-teacher organizations, 103
  referrals, 101–102
  service or civic clubs, 103
  speaker’s bureau, 102
  responsibilities to, 127
Competence, professional, 28, 127,
  140–141, 147
Computers/technology, ethics and, 123–124, 136–137
Confidentiality, 20–23, 119–120, 137–140, 148
Consequences, logical (in Adlerian theory),
  112–115
Consultation. See also Ethical issues in consultation; School-based consultation:
  annotated bibliography, 179
  attributes of effective consultants, 1–5 consulting skills, 2–3
  knowledge of consultation and human behavior, 2
  multicultural and diversity
  perspective, 3–5
  personal and professional growth orientation, 2
  collaboration distinguished from, 15 reasons for school counselors to become consultants, 5–6
Consultation models:
  organized by primary focus, 12–14
  behavioral consultation, 12–13
  mental health consultation, 13
  organizational consultation, 13–14
  organized by types of interactions, 14–15
  collaborative-dependent, 14
  collaborative-independent, 14–15
  triadic-dependent, 14
  proposed integrated approach, 15–17 (see also Case consultation model)
Consultee resistance, 48–49
Cooperation, loss of (Adlerian theory), 115
Cooperative Discipline, 54
Counseling plans, 120
Counseling relationship, 132–137
Counselor training. See Training/education, counselor
Credentials, 142–143
Crisis intervention, 90–94
  guidelines for responding to a crisis, 92 resources/web sites, 91–94 role of school counselor, 90
  seven-part crisis management plan, 91
Danger to self or others, 121–122
Diagnosis of mental disorders, 148
Diversity:
  ethical standards/codes, 127–128, 132–133, 149
  multicultural versus, 3
  perspective, 3–5
  testing, 149
Documentation/records, 30, 122, 139
  “Do no harm” principle, 29–30
Dual relationships, 25–26, 120, 134
Early Childhood STEP, 59
Effective Parenting Checklist, 56, 57,
  63–64
Emotions (HELPING model), 11
Employers/employees, relationships with,
  144–145
Encouragement (Adlerian theory), 110–111
Ethical issues in consultation, 19–30
  annotated bibliography, 180
  clients served by others, 133–134
codes (full text):
  American Counseling Association (ACA), 131–159
  American School Counselor Association (ASCA), 117–130
  competence, 28, 127, 140–141, 147
  confidentiality, 20–23, 119–120, 137–140, 148
  consulting with colleagues, 30
  counseling plans, 120
  counseling relationship, 132–137
  credentials, 142–143
  danger to self or others, 121–122
  diversity, 3, 127–128, 132–133, 149
  “do no harm,” 29–30
  dual relationships, 25–26, 120, 134
  evaluation, assessment, and interpretation, 122–123, 146–150
  evolving/changing standards, 29–30 families, 138
  fees, 29, 135–136, 146
  groups, 121, 135, 138
  informed consent, 25, 147–148, 155–156
  knowledge of standards, 140, 158
  legal requirements, 29
  maintenance of standards, 129–130, 158–159
  mental disorders, proper diagnosis of, 148
  minor or incompetent clients, 27, 138
  multiple clients, 135
  nonsupervisory relationship, 23–24
  parents/guardians, 124–125
  principles (three), 29–30
  privileged communication, 22
  professionalism, 128, 129, 140–144
  professional relationships, 26–27, 125–126, 144–146, 148
  records/documentation, 30, 122, 139
  referrals, 121, 136, 146
  research/publication, 139, 154–157
  resolving complaints, suspected violations, 129–130, 158–159
  responsibilities:
    to colleagues and professional associates, 125–126
    to the community, 126–127
  to other professionals, 144
  to parents/guardians, 124–125
  to the profession, 128–129
  to public, 143
  to the school, 126–127
  to self, 127–128
  to students, 118–119
  rights of clients, 133
  school board or local school policies, 29
  sexual intimacies with current/former clients, 134–135
  soliciting clients, 141–142
  subcontractor arrangements, 146
  technology, 123–124, 136–137
  termination, 136
  training, 139, 151–154
  tripartite relationship, 19–20
  values, 28–29, 134
  voluntary and temporary relationship, 24–25
  welfare of clients, 132
  work-related relationship, 25–26
  Evaluation, assessment, and interpretation, 122–123, 146–150
  Exceptional student education (ESE) programs, 74–75
  Family atmosphere (Adlerian theory), 115–116
  Family counseling, 138
  Family Talk, 61–62
  Fees, 29, 135–136, 146
  Follow-up, 41–42, 44, 73
  Frequently asked questions:
    from administrators, 47–48
    from parents, 47
    from teachers, 47
  Get-acquainted activities, 78, 79
  Goals: Adlerian theory (mistaken goals of behavior), 111–112
    clarifying in concrete terms, 36
    formulating, 33–34
  Grade level team meetings, 67–68
  Grandparent program, 104
  Group work, ethical issues, 121, 135, 138
Growth orientation, personal/professional, 2
Guardians, 3

Health, 11
HELPING acronym/model, 11

Imagery, 11
Information:
  about consultee, 23
  sharing with other professionals, 125–126, 148
  about student (client):
    ethical issues, 20–23
    presenting/gathering, 35–37
Informed consent, 25, 147–148, 155–156
In-service sessions, 79
Intervention, corrective, 98

Knowledge:
  building (resource collection), 169, 170
  of consultation and human behavior, 2, 171 self-assessment, 171
  of standards, 140, 158

Learning (HELPING model), 11
Legal issues/requirements, 22, 29
Logical consequences (Adlerian theory), 112–115
  loss of cooperation, 115
  loss or delay of privilege, 114
  restitution, 115

MegaSkills, 58
Mental disorders, proper diagnosis of, 148
Mental health consultation (models), 13
Minor children:
  confidentiality issues, 138
  consent of parent/guardian, 27
Mistaken goals of behavior (Adlerian theory), 111–112
Multicultural versus diversity, 3. See also Diversity
Multiple clients, conflicting roles and, 135

Needs to know (HELPING model), 11
Next Step, The (Systematic Training Effective Parenting Through Problem Solving), 60
Nonsupervisory relationship, 23–24

Organizational consultation (models), 13–14

Parent(s):
  confidentiality, 124–125
  frequently asked questions from, 47
  programs for, 55–64
    Active Parenting Now, 61, 109
    Bowdoin Parent Education Program, 62–64
    Building Successful Partnerships, 58–59
    Effective Parenting Checklist, 56, 57, 63–64
    Family Talk, 61–62
    MegaSkills, 58
    Next Step, The (Systematic Training Effective Parenting Through Problem Solving), 60
    Roots and Wings, 58
    Strengthening Stepfamilies, 60–61
    Systematic Training for Effective Parenting (STEP), 59–60 rights and responsibilities, 124
  what they can tell students about seeing the counselor, 45–46

Parent-education groups, community, 102–103
Parent-teacher-counselor conferences, 65–66
Parent-teacher organizations, 103
Peer Coaching Model for Feedback, 166
Peer relationship, 23–24
Personal needs/values, 134
Personal relationships (HELPING model), 11
Positives, starting with, 34–35
Privacy, right to, 137–138
Privilege, loss or delay of (Adlerian theory), 114
Privileged communication, 22
Professional(s), other:
  responsibility to, 144
  sharing information with, 125–126, 148
  working with, 26–27, 125, 144–146
Professionalism, 128, 129, 140–144
Publication, 157
Public responsibility, 143

Ready to Learn, 97
Reality Therapy, 12, 17
Records/documentation, 30, 122, 139
Referral(s):
  automatic, 75
  community, 101–102
  ethical standards/codes and, 121, 136, 146
  fees for, 146
  teaching faculty process for, 43–45
  teams, 74–75
  termination and, 136
  working with other professionals, 26–27
Relationship(s):
  developing, 34–35, 132–137
  dual, 25–26, 120, 134
  with employers/employees, 144–145
  nonsupervisory, 23–24
  peer, 23–24
  personal (HELPING model), 11
  professional, 125, 144–146
  tripartite, 19–20
  voluntary and temporary, 24–25
  work-related, 25–26
Research/publication, 139, 154–157
Resistance, consultee, 48–49
Responsibilities:
  to colleagues and professional associates, 125–126
  to the community, 126–127
  to other professionals, 144
  to parents/guardians, 124–125
  to the profession, 128–129
  to public, 143
  to the school, 126–127
  to self, 127–128
  to students, 118–119
Restitution (Adlerian theory), 115
Roots and Wings, 58

School(s):
  board policies, 29
  planning (preventive/developmental), 92–99
  process of schoolwide change, 94–95
  responsibilities to, 126
School-based consultation:
  consultee resistance, 48–49
  discipline planning, 95–99
  frequently asked questions, 47–48
    from administrators, 47–48
    from parents, 47
    from teachers, 47
  get-acquainted activities, 78, 79
  in-service sessions, 79
  integrated approach proposed, 15–17
  parent-teacher-counselor conferences, 65–66
  recommendations for students with task completion difficulties, 75–76 referral process, 43–45
  student-teacher-counselor conferences, 66–67
  supporting models and theories, 9–17
  behavioral consultation, 12–13
  collaborative-dependent, 14
  collaborative-independent, 14–15
  consultation versus collaboration, 15
  mental health consultation, 13
  organizational consultation, 13–14
  organized by primary focus, 12–14
  organized by types of interactions, 14–15
  triadic-dependent, 14
  teacher advisor programs (TAP), 76–78
  teacher team consultation, 67–75
  grade level team meetings, 67–68
  referral teams, 74–75
  school-based teams, 68–74
  theoretical approaches, 10–11
  what parents and teachers can tell students about seeing the counselor, 45–46
School-based observation, 170
Self, responsibilities to, 127–128
Self-assessment of consultation knowledge/skills, 171
Self-reliance, encouraging consultee, 25
Service clubs, 103
Sexual intimacies with current/former clients, 134–135
Show/Do, 163–165
Skills, consulting, 2–3
Social skills, 97
Soliciting clients, 141–142
Solution-focused approaches, 12, 17
Speaker’s bureau, 102
Standards. See Ethical issues in consultation
Strengthening Stepfamilies, 60–61
Student(s):
peer support program, 124
records, 122
with task completion difficulties, 75–76
Student Success Skills, 96, 97, 99
Student-teacher-counselor conferences, 66–67
Subcontractor arrangements, 146
Supervisees, students and, 153–154
Support system, 98–99
Survey results, 170–172
Systematic Training for Effective Parenting (STEP), 59–60, 76, 109
Systematic Training for Effective Teaching (STET), 55, 76, 109
Teacher(s):
brief collaboration/consultation with counselor, 43–44
communicating with students, 45–46
frequently asked questions from, 47
programs for, 52–54
Cooperative Discipline, 54
Systematic Training for Effective Teaching (STET), 55
Tribes, 54–55
as referring agents (confidentiality), 21
Teacher advisor programs (TAP), 76–78
Teacher team consultation, 67–75
grade level team meetings, 67–68
referral teams, 74–75
school-based teams, 68–74
Teaching/workshop model, 16–17. See also Workshop(s)
Technology, ethics and, 123–124, 136–137
“Tell, show, do, coach” model, 162–163
Termination, 136
Testing (evaluation, assessment, and interpretation), 122–123, 146–150
Theoretical approaches, 10–11
Adler’s theory, 10–11
cognitive behavioral and behavioral techniques, 11
HELPING acronym (the HELPING model), 11
Reality Therapy, 12
solution-focused approach, 12
Training/education, counselor:
application-learning model (building consultation skills), 161–172 activities supporting text, 168–170 book review: building knowledge and resources, 170 case consultation with parents/teachers, 166–167
feedback, 164, 165
preparation for consultative role, 161–162 resource collection, 169–170
school-based observation, 170
survey results, 170–172
“tell, show, do, coach” model, 162–165
workshop presentation, 167–168
ethical issues, 139, 151–154
self-assessment of consultation knowledge/skills, 171
Triadic-dependent model, 14
Tribes, 54–55
Tripartite relationship, 19–20
Values, 28–29, 134
Voluntary and temporary relationship, 24–25
Welfare, client, 132
Work-related relationship, 25–26
Workshop(s), 51–64
case consultation model, 16–17
development of, 167–168
discipline planning, 96
evaluation forms, 53, 165
feedback to facilitators, 165
format/model:
  ask before telling, 52
  evaluate, 52
  introduction of information and skills, 52
  personalize and practice, 52
  process and summarize, 52
  warm-up, 51
for parents, 56–64, 96
sample titles, 168
for teachers, 52–54, 96